Soviet Mideast Plan Will Help 'Ike's Doctrine'

Senator Says Enactment of President's Plan 'Inevitable'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. George D. Aiken (R-VT) said today that Russia's massive propaganda assault against the "Eisenhower Doctrine" makes Senate enactment of the President's Mid-die East plan "inevitable."

Aiken's comment came shortly before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees met in hopes of completing their work on the President's resolution and reporting it out for Senate debate. The resolution already has passed the House.

Republican senators on the two committees appeared to be lined up solidly against one more determined Democratic effort to make a substantial change in the resolution.

"Approve" Not "Authorize"

The latest test shaped up over a Democratic move to reword the proposal so that Congress would "approve" rather than "authorize" presidential use of U.S. troops, if necessary, to halt any Russian aggression in the Middle East. The change was proposed by Chairman Theodore Francis Green (D-RI) of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Some senators argue that Mr. Eisenhower is asking Congress to delegate some of its constitutional authority over the use of American forces in combat.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee predicted that Green's proposed change might carry by a narrow margin.

Final approval of the resolution by the two committees appeared certain after this issue is settled Senate leaders hope to begin floor debate on the President's plan before the end of the week.

Soviets Claim Aggression

With the resolution entering the last stretch of its route through Congress, Russia was pushing a broad-scale propaganda attack against the plan. Its latest move was a request that the United Nations brand the "doctrine" and other U.S. military policies as "acts of aggression."

Aiken, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the propaganda assault indicates the Russians "fear the effectiveness of the President's plan." He said the Soviet attack "makes final congressional enactment of the plan inevitable."

The State Department declined immediate comment on the Russian UN move.

Merchants to Elect Board Members Tonight

Five new members of the executive committee of the Merchants Division of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce will be elected tonight at the Division's annual meeting.

Tickets for the dinner, scheduled at 6.30 in the Slovak Home, will be available at the door.

Remarks will be given by Mayor Hugo J. Parente and Charles W. Hagerstrand, newly - elected president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Stephen Menzler will give the report of the balloting committee.

The Rev. John Conway, assistant pastor of St. Leonard R. C. Church, will present the invocation and Capt John Connors, of the Salvation Army, will deliver the benediction.

Restaurant Near Brownsville Is Destroyed by Fire

Fire of undetermined origin razed the Malden Curb Service, U. S. Rt. 40, west of Brownsville, early yesterday morning, causing loss estimated at $7,000.

Firemen from three departments fought the blaze for nearly two hours. In the end, only fragments of the concrete walls were left standing.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 3 a. m. by an unidentified teen-ager passing in his auto. West Brownsville, Denbo and Richeyville volunteers answered the alarm.

Robert Tunney, fireman who owned the curb service until several weeks ago, placed the damage estimate. He said all stock and equipment were destroyed.

Exact cause of the blaze was not known, according to Chief Curt Ryland, West Brownsville, Ryland said flames obviously erupted in the rear portion of the building. There was no electrical apparatus in that part, however, on which to affix blame, he added.

There were no persons in the structure when fire broke out, sources said. Investigation of the cause is continuing.

Library Man Is Held in Assault

FINLEYVILLE, Pa. (UP) — William Roberts, 25, of near Library, Pa., was held today for court on charges he assaulted and attempted to kill a woman cab driver.

Roberts, father of four children, appeared Tuesday night before Squire Fred J. Broglie here, and admitted criminally assaulting the 24-year-old woman last Saturday night on a road near Gastonville, Washington County.

Broglie also held him on charges of aggravated assault and battery and attempted murder. Roberts was arrested early Sunday morning after the victim was found by the operator of the taxi firm and taken to Mercy Hospital.

May Need New Tax In State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Republican House leadership may give a little on its pledge of "no new taxes" to balance Gov. George M. Leader's $1,604,000,000 state budget for the next two years.

Just 24 hours after the GOP introduced a series of tax bills calling for reenactment of current levies while promising to hold the line against any new ones, House Majority Leader Albert W Johnson (McKean) hinted that new levies may be needed after all.

Johnson told the House Tuesday during a discussion over the tax bills and the budget that he wanted the House Appropriations Committee to try to cut appropriations to bring them within an estimated $1,500,000,000 revenue the Republican leaders contend is available through tax renewals.

But then Johnson explained that the Appropriations Committee should make this attempt "at least on the second round" and if it found such cuts could not be made then new tax revenues would have to be supplied.

There is an excellent possibility the GOP-sponsored "tax package" including reenactment of the 3 per cent sales tax for another two years, may emerge from the House Ways and Means Committee next week.

Johnson said the Republican majority plans to get the tax program to the House floor for action "at the earliest possible moment," and Rep. Wayne M. Breisch (R-Schuylkill) chairman of the Ways and Means Committee said he will call a meeting of the group next week at which time the tax package will come up for consideration.

Early Floor Action

"If a majority of the committee approves, the tax bills will be brought out at that time," Breisch said.

Former House Speaker Hiram G. Andrews (D-Cambria) said the Republican action in proposing only enough tax measures to bring in $1,500,000,000 was equivalent to "holding a gun at the head of the Appropriations Committee." He said that it was implied they must cut the budget to that amount.

"It has been told how much money it (the committee) has to work with before it has had a chance to sit down and discuss the budget itself," Andrews said.

With all the tax action in the House, the Senate concerned itself with discussing the propriety of Turnpike Commissioner Merritt A. Williamson drawing a state salary from two sources.

Williamson, confirmed only recently by the Senate, is drawing his $13,000 salary as a turnpike commissioner and another $2,000 from Pennsylvania State University for what Gov. George M. Leader termed some "extra" work he will continue to do there. Williamson was dean of engineering at Penn State before his appointment to the commission. He was paid $15,000 annually in the university post.

Emil T. Beck

Emil T. Beck Candidate for School Director

Emil T. Beck today announced he will be a candidate for Monessen School Director in the May 21 primary.

Beck will run as an Independent Democrat, the same as he did four years ago when he ran for School Director and lost after polling some 3,200 votes, the highest among Independent Democrats.

A life-long resident of Monessen, Beck, 28, is a graduate of Monessen High School and attended the University of Notre Dame and University of Pittsburgh.

Formerly a staff announcer for radio station WMCK, of McKeesport, Beck now is associated with the Industrial engineering department at the Allenport plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

He played varsity basketball at Monessen High from 1944 to 1946. Last year he was the public address announcer at Monessen High's home football games.

Beck is married to the former Stephanie Wisyanski. They reside with their two-year old daughter at 1303 Summit avenue.

Beck is the son of Mr. and Mrs Jack Beck, pioneer citizens of Monessen.

The terms of two School Directors, Romeo Furio and Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, expire this year. Beck is the first to announce his candidacy.

Avra Pershing To Head County Planning Group

Attorney Avra N. Pershing, Jr., of Greensburg, was elected president of the Westmoreland County Planning Commission at an organization meeting held yesterday.

Clark Queer, of Mt. Pleasant, was named vice president and Robert P. DeLotto, of New Kensington, secretary.

Other members of the Commission are: E. C. Good, of Arnold; Dr. Charles F. Fox, of Vandergrift; Donald Duvall, of Monessen; Ben R. Hebrank, of Greensburg; Paul Euwer, of Jeannette and Albert Chenet, of Latrobe.

The Commission will hold its next meeting March 4 at 2 p. m in the courthouse. It also set March 15 as the date for a joint meeting with various planning commissions in the county.

West Newton Man Files Damage Suit

Ralph M. Clark, West Newton R. D. 1, has filed suit in Westmoreland County courts for damages of more than $2,500 against Lawrence Guardasoni, Irwin R. D. 1, North Huntingdon Twp, as a result of a traffic accident in June, 1956.

Clark claims he was operating a motorcycle in Herminie when Guardasoni's auto struck his vehicle at a street intersection causing Clark severe physical injuries and damaging the motorcycle.

'Gambling Bills' Are Hit by Church Council

Two "legalized gambling" bills recently introduced by Rep. H. J. Maxwell, of Monessen, in the state legislature drew sharp criticism today from the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

Dr. O. B. Poulson, executive secretary of the Council's Social Relations Division, predicted that neither measure will get far in the next session of the Assembly.

One of Maxwell's bills calls for a referendum on horse race parimutuel betting. The other measure would set up machinery for a state lottery, the proceeds of which would be used for cancer research.

Dr. Poulson said that Protestant churches are opposed to all forms of legalized gambling.

"The sentiment against the legalization of pari-mutual betting at race tracks is especially strong," he said.

It was pointed out also that "promoted bingo games is gambling in fact and leads to other forms of gambling."

Dr. Poulson listed these reasons for the Council's opposition to horse race betting:

1. Cambling is a major vice and should be treated as such.

2. To produce an income of $30 million at 6 per cent of receipts, citizens of the state would have to wager $500 million, leaving $470 million for the promoters and gamblers.

3. The state of Texas legalized pari-mutual betting in the early thirties, but repealed the law after four racing seasons. According to the Council the betting was discontinued because of "too many robberies and embezzlements, plus greatly lowered income at grocery stores and other legitimate business places."

Fayette City Man To Head Group

Thomas Wood, of Fayette City, was elected president of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Livestock Association at the annual meeting yesterday in the Mansion House, near Washington.

New board members include E. H. Vail, New Salem: Carter Andrew, Greene County, and John Young, Washington County. Other officers are:

Donald Hodkins, Washington County, vice president; Donald Minor, Greene, secretary; John Throckmorton, Greene, treasurer; and Mrs. Flora Burge, Greene, recording secretary.

Thomas King, of the animal husbandry livestock extension service at Pennsylvania State University, discussed "Beef Production Testing," stressing that better and bigger calves at weaning age bring more profit to the breeders at sale time.

Parking Hours for Meters Are Changed

There will be no charge for on-street parking between Fourth and Sixth streets from 6 to 9 p. m on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, City Council voted this morning.

The parking meters will be in operation on other days, except Sundays.

Council passed the motion upon a recommendation by the Monessen Parking Authority.

Ike's Recovery Hailed for Its Effect on Others

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The recovery of President Eisenhower from his heart attack was hailed Monday by a prominent Philadelphia physician as having a "great psychological effect for healing" for those suffering from coronary artery disease.

Dr. Thomas M. Durant, head of the department of medicine at Temple University, said the President's recovery was the "most fortunate thing" that has happened to many Americans suffering from the disease.

"I'm afraid to think what would have happened to countless people if he had done poorly," Dr. Durant told a symposium sponsored by the Heart Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania.

He called heart and blood vessel disease the "No. 1 public health problem in America" and added the "fact our president is running the government, is back on the golf course— leading a normal, active life—has a great psychological effect for healing."

Three Hurt in Head-on Crash Near Ligonier

GREENSURG, Pa. (UP) — Three persons were reported in "fair" condition today at McGinnis Private Hospital in Ligonier with injuries suffered in a head-on collision of two automobiles on Route 711.

Those hospitalized were Mrs Opal M. Monticue 46, who suffered an arm fracture; Uriah S. Ament, 65, who suffered a nose fracture and possible rib fractures, and his wife, Mary, 68, who received a possible skull fracture. All reside on Star Route, Ligonier.

State police here said the drivers were Ament and Mrs. Monticue's daughter, Clara, 19, who was treated for cuts and bruises and told to return to the hospital today for X rays.

State police said the collision occurred about five miles south of Ligonier.

McDonald Leads In Nation; Cops One Area Local

Steel Chief Is Embarrassed

PITTSBURGH (UP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald appeared a handy winner today in his bid for re-election, but his millhand opponent rolled up a sizeable "protest" vote in the steel centers of Pennsylvania.

Heavy majorities in the mills of the West and South built McDonald's lead over Don C. Rarick, candidate of a dissident group in the 1,200,000-member union, to insurmountable proportions.

McDonald ran into difficulty principally in steel - producing areas of Pittsburgh, Johnstown and some eastern sections of Pennsylvania.

With unofficial returns from more than 500 of the union's 2,700 local unions tabulated, the tally showed: McDonald 98,106, Rarick 23,031.

Carries Home Local

Union sources predicted Rarick would carry USW District 16, which covers 28,000 workers in south side Pittsburgh and the McKees Rocks, Pa., district, by about 1,500 votes. Rarick also was reported making a good showing in his home District 15, covering the big Homestead - McKeesport, Pa., steel producing area.

The election marked the first time a USW president ever has faced opposition in a bid for re-election and a sizeable "protest" vote could weaken McDonald's position not only within his own union, but in the American labor picture.

I.W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer seeking re-election, had a wide lead over his "protest" group opponent, William Klug, Milwaukee, and appeared certain of victory. In District 16, Abel ran ahead of McDonald.

District 16, where McDonald was reported trailing Rarick, includes the union president's home local.

Says Margins "Fantastic"

Rarick discounted the results as announced by USW district headquarters. He said district officers were nearly all McDonald men and described some of their claims of big McDonald margins as "fantastic."

He cited as an example the figures announced by Joseph Germano, director of District 31 in the Chicago area. Germano reported McDonald leading by a margin of better than 30 to 1.

"Why, we have more committee people working there than the votes he credits us," Rarick said.

Rarick said he would contest the balloting at Local 1299, Detroit, which reported 3,300 votes for McDonald and 833 for him. He said the local's executive board—"all McDonald men" — tabulated the votes and allowed no one from the Rarick camp to be present.

He said he knew "without a shadow of a doubt" that Pittsburgh and its surrounding area "will be terrifically for us."

Rarick said no matter what un-

Insurgent Wins Easily Here

Steelworkers in the Monessen district went all out for Donald C. Rarick in his battle against David J. McDonald for president of the United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO) yesterday, according to unofficial returns compiled by The Daily Independent at noon today.

In fact, Rarick carried 12 out of 13 locals in the district, and most of them by sizeable majorities.

Unofficial returns from the 13 locals show 6,713 votes for Rarick and 2,795 for McDonald.

Local 210 of the Combustion Engineering, Inc., Monongahela, was the only local to favor McDonald. He won 379 to 254 there.

Big Vote Here

Rarick was a shoo-in locally. At the giant Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, he polled 2,125 votes to McDonald's 602. A total of 2,727 were cast, with five being void.

Rarick also won handily at Monessen Page Local 1391, receiving 430 votes against McDonald's 235.

He also received a whopping majority at Pittsburgh Steel Allenport Local 1187. The unofficial vote count there showed Rarick with 1,253 and McDonald 591.

Donora steelworkers also favored the 37-year-old millhand from McKeesport. Donora Local 1758, of American Steel and Wire Co., Inc., gave him 1,762 votes to McDonald's 544.

Even the district's white collar locals preferred McDonald. Pittsburgh Steel white collar workers voted 151 to 107 for Rarick. Page white collar employes gave him a four-vote edge, 29 to 25.

Results of the other offices voted for yesterday were not available today. Most locals counted the Rarick-McDonald votes first and will not have complete returns on the other offices until tomorrow, it was learned.

Local Students To Take Part in Band Festival

Three Monessen High School students will take part in the Western District Band Festival to be held tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Uniontown Joint High School. They are Bill Lear, trumpet, Veronica Yursco, flute and Dan Matianski, clarinet.

Band Director Julius Dalfonso plans to accompany the students to some of the sessions.

There were 180 musicians in the band to which Eugene Hulbert will be host. The guest conductor will be James W. Dunlop, conductor of the Pennsylvania State University Band.

Rehearsals and many activities are scheduled for each day and registration is set for tomorrow morning from 8:30 to 10 a. m.

The Saturday night concert will be open to the public and will feature a varied program.

ROSTRAVER FARMERS INSTITUTE — Rostraver Township farmers last night held their ninth annual institute at the Grange Hall on Route 51. Talks were given by Penn State specialists and by members of the Rostraver Township Future Farmers Association. Taking part in the meeting were (l. to r.) Joseph Thurston, County farm agent; Wayne Kelly, specialist in agricultural economics; Mrs. Miriam Long, County home economics specialist; Robert Lauffer, specialist in poultry husbandry; and William A. Smith, committee chairman.

School Board Holds Varied Session; Assessments Are Up

The Monessen School Board covered a multitude of items in a 23-page agenda at a regular monthly meeting last night.

In one of the items, the board was notified that the real estate assessment for 1957-58 school tax purposes has been certified at $34,439,815, or an increase of $523,537.50 over the 1956-57 school year.

Eleven persons applied for positions in the School District. They include:

Lawrence Bonar, of Edgewater, Md., industrial arts and mathematics; Charles Wasicek, of Belle Vernon, secondary social studies; Mrs. Marie Pearsol, of Charleroi, elementary teacher; Edward Mottle, Jr., of New Salem, elementary teacher; Mary Lou Kruppa, Charleroi, secondary English and general speech; Andrew Ruschak, of Charleroi, secondary English and social science; Thomas J. Fallon, of Monessen, secondary biology and general science; Winifred Morris, of Belle Vernon, elementary music and health; Peter Zoretich, of Bentleyville, secondary biology, general science, and mathematics; Jean Rosemary Bodoia, of Monessen, kindergarten teacher, and Emil Stofka, of Monessen, custodian.

The Sunoco Service Station, operated by John Dudas, submitted the lowest bid to supply gasoline, oil and auto accessories for the district for the year. His bid for regular gasoline was 28.9 cents per gallon less three cents off. Sinclair's bid was 28.9 cents, Spurke's Atlantic Station, 31.9 less two per cent, and Pustinger's Gas Station, 31.9 less three cents. The bids apply to posted prices.

A motion was passed congratulating Karen Duda, a Monessen High School junior who won first prize in a recent National Thrift Essay Contest. The board selected Henry Furio, High School principal, to represent the district when Miss Duda receives her award at a dinner in Chicago the weekend of Feb. 22.

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools, who will be unable to attend the dinner because of previous commitments, praised Miss Duda stating she is a "credit to herself, her parents and her school."

The board stood in a moment of silence and John Lancas, president, offered a prayer in tribute to Frank McKosky and Miss Mary Nixon, two teachers who died re-

Lobbyists Bill in Assembly

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to require registration of lobbyists and place curbs on possible "conflict of interests" of legislators, state officials and employes, was in the General Assembly today.

The bipartisan House bills were part of Gov. George M. Leader's program to make it more difficult for pressure groups or Commonwealth employes to improperly influence legislation or matters within the administration.

Leader sent the House his recommendations on both bills, urging their passage to "increase the confidence of Pennsylvania's citizens in their state government and in its desire to serve all of them honestly and well.

The lobby proposal would require all such groups to register and account for what they spend or receive to influence legislation. It was sponsored by Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) and Allen M. Gibson (R-Warren), Republican whip.

The other legislation would define and regulate what constitutes a conflict on the part of state officials and employes. It was sponsored by Readinger and Thomas J. McCormack (D-Philadelphia), Lee A. Donaldon Jr. (R-Allegheny) and Maurice Goldstein (R-Allegheny).

"Together these bills strike at the heart of special interest in government—whether on the part of the individual or the pressure group," the governor said. "Both seek to protect the welfare of the many from erosion for the benefit of the few."

New Bills to Ban Use of Wire Tapping Devices

HARRISBURG (UP) — New bills to ban the use or possession of wire tapping devices for all but law enforcement agencies was under consideration by the state's lawmakers today.

The legislation offered by state Sen. Charles R. Weiner (D-Philadelphia) would permit the use of information obtained through wire tapping in criminal proceedings only under a warrant issued by a quarter sessions court.

The material obtained by police through the use of such devices would be screened by the judge issuing the warrant and would be destroyed "if it shall appear that no prosecution is deemed likely" as a result of the evidence.

The new legislation is similar to measures introduced earlier in both houses. The bill of Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York) to outlaw the interception of telephone and telegraph communications completely is due for a vote in the Senate probably next week.

Utah has the best record, 76.1 per cent, and Mississippi has worst, 22.1 per cent.

Young Girl Wants to Sing, So She Asked and Got Her Chance

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — A 19-year-old homey type named Dolores Rodomista is so square that she thinks you can walk right in on Broadway and get an audition just for the asking.

She doesn't know you have to have an agent. She doesn't know what percentage an agent gets or what his duties are. She doesn't know what a songplugger is.

Matter of cold, hard fact, she can't read a note of music and can't play a note. However, she's been singing since she was four, starting out with Italian songs her immigrant grandfather taught her.

So. . .without an agent she walked into the Green Room of the Hotel Edison and asked band leader Henry Jerome for an audition. Jerome had been auditioning professional singers all day. Dolores was the last to show up. He told her to go ahead and holler.

She Gets Job

Dolores began singing. Jerome listened. He thought: 'Hmmm." He listened some more. He thought: "Well, well, well."

She sang a couple of songs, and then, as she recalls: "He told me right away that I had a job. He just said, 'We want you to start whenever you're ready to start.'"

Dolores has been singing with Jerome's band for three weeks, and sometimes, she says, she can't believe she's getting paid for doing what she most wants to do: "Sometimes I feel guilty getting the check."

Jerome shortened up her name, made it Dolores Rodell. She rehearses half an hour each night before the band begins playing at 9:30. She sings about five songs an hour in the hotel and broadcasts with the band on two radio networks.

Short On Sleep

When she finishes work, she gets on the Long Island Railroad and rolls into the Gibson Station at 2:30 a.m. Her mother is there to meet her and drives her home to Lynbrook, N. Y. This doesn't leave her mother much room for sleeping because the mother has to be on the job at 9 a.m. as telephone switchboard operator in a bank.

"I just wouldn't sleep at all if I didn't pick her up," her mother says. "She's just a good little girl with a fine voice."

At a church show, Dolores' priest, Father Albert Hoffman, listened to the brown - eyed, dark-haired teen-ager sing one night and then told her mother: "As much as I hate to see her get in show business, I'd like to see her singing on TV."

That remark was a needed impetus. Dolores had been training in another direction. She'd had eight years in dancing school. As they say around here, "It figures."

Wants 60 Year Retirement Age

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly was asked today to force state policemen to retire at 60 years of age.

The proposal, sponsored by Rep. John H. Moody (R-Dauphin) and Robert Wheeler Jr. (D-Fayette) would require the automatic retirement of all policemen after 60 except the commissioner and his deputy.

Other legislation affecting the force would permit former state troopers to apply for private detective licenses, allow repayment of pension fund contributions to members who leave the force, provide subsistence allowance for married troopers, and force the commissioner to detail why members were dismissed or applicants refused enlistment.

Coal Demand Expected to Rise in 1957

WASHINGTON (UP)—European demand for U.S. coal will rise in 1957 and probably will continue to increase through the next 20 years, according to interior secretary Fred A. Seaton.

Seaton said European coal production except in the Saar has failed to keep pace with rising demand, and is "expected to fall further behind."

Seaton cited a study by the Bureau of Mines which said that Europe's growing dependence on coal imports, results from a shortage of mine manpower and "difficult mining conditions."

U.S. coal exports to Europe jumped from 10.8 million tons in 1954 to 29.3 million in 1955, and 31.8 million during the first nine months of 1956, Seaton said.

The Bureau of Mines report said it is too early to estimate the effects of the Suez crisis on Western Europe's coal needs but experts expect the current drain on European oil reserves to increase demand for coal.

Jaguar Auto Plant Destroyed by Fire

CONVENTRY, England (UP)—A multi-million dollar fire swept the giant Jaguar Motor Works here Tuesday night and officials said it would halt production for "many months."

Some 300 cars marked for export were destroyed but prototypes of new Jaguar models which the company was about to introduce to the public were saved.

A 40-foot link road saved half the factory from destruction as 16 fire brigades struggled to douse the flames.

Dairy Products Dinner To Be Meeting Feature

When hundreds of member-stockholders of Country Belle Cooperative farmers gather in Butler next Monday for their first all-day annual meeting, they'll dine on the products of their own farms.

A special menu, built around plenty of milk, butter, cottage cheese and ice cream, will be served to the farmers, their wives and guests by the kitchen staff of the Knights of Columbus lodge, scene of the conclave. To top it off, traditional milkmaid costumes will be worn by TV star Abbie Neal and her girls as they entertain with folk music.

Convening at 10 in the morning under the gavel of president J. R. Simpson, Butler area diaryman, the assembled farmers will be given comprehensive reports on the past year's business of the cooperative. They will hear Country Belle general manager C. O. Larson, director of sales J. E. Davis, and treasurer W. C. Larson, all of the dairy co-op's main office in Pittsburgh.

Preceding the noon meal, the assembled members and others who will vote by mail, will elect four directors to serve for a three-year term.

In the afternoon, the farmers will hear a talk entitled "You and Your Cooperative" by R. N. Benjamin, of New Cumberland. Benjamin, who is vice-chairman of the five-state Farm Credit Board of Baltimore and former executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, spoke briefly before the same group last year. He has been closely associated with farm organization work for more than a quarter century.

Country Belle is owned by more than 600 dairy farmers in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Clarion, Crawford, Indiana, Lawrence, Mercer, Somerset, Venango, Warren, Washington, and Westmoreland counties. Founded in 1954, it is today the largest milk marketing cooperative in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Country Belle serves 70,000 customers from plants in Pittsburgh, Aliquippa, Butler, Knox, Butler, Knox, Koppel, Smithton, Tarentum, and Washington.

Young Ladies of Concord Church Hold Shower

The Young Ladies Sunday School Class of Concord Church honored one of its members, Mrs. Earl McBeth, with a stork shower at her home Monday.

It was a "silver dollar" shower. Games were under the direction of Patty Hoffman. A cake baked by Mrs. Esther Budd, the honored guest's mother, centered the table. Lunch was served by the class.

Others present were Mrs. James Mathews, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Frank Yoder, Mrs. Edgar Snyder, Mrs. Edward Snyder, Mrs. Shirley Snyder, Mrs. Ernest Snyder, Mrs. Chester Opatkiewicz, Mrs. Eugene Lynn, Mrs. Joseph Cupples, Mrs. Dane Taylor, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Michael McKito, Mrs. Hattie Williams, Mrs. Stella Timms, Mrs. George Daumit and Janice Snyder.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Webster will hold a Valentine card party tomorrow beginning at 7:30 at the fire hall. Lunch will be served.

Hungarian Ladies Hold Card Party

The Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary held a card party Monday with the proceeds going towards Hungarian refugees.

Christine Evans won first prize in "500" and Noami Sedok was second. The euchre first prize went to Donna Evans while Ann Klawcho won second place.

Isabelle Vincentich won the door prize and Mary Lambert and Ann Klawcho won special prizes. A card party will be held each Monday of the month.

Donna Santmyer Crowned Queen Of Basketball

Donna Santmyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Santmyer, of R. D., Belle Vernon, was crowned Basketball Queen of Geneva College at impressive ceremonies last weekend.

Her parents and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Brubaker, also of R. D. Belle Vernon, attended the event.

Miss Santmyer, who is head cheerleader and a member of the Pep Club, was crowned and a gold basketball necklace was placed around her neck by Lenny Clark, co-captain of the Geneva team. Other members of the squad assisted.

Her attendants were Sally Stover, of Pittsburgh, and Elaine Wineland, of Altoona, both close friends of the queen.

Kathy Wilson and Marilou Pearson were in charge of the event. Paul Steele was the announcer.

Baptismal Services At Pricedale Church

Baptismal services were held Sunday at Pricedale Union Church with the Rev. George Guest, pastor, in charge. The following babies were baptized:

Jill Elleen Santmyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Santmyer, Jr.; Mark Adrian Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Patterson, and Gregg Walter Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Naylor.

The Rev. W. S. Van Ryn offered prayer before lunch was served.

George Turner, of Johnson avenue, Pricedale, has returned home after being a patient in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Drag Racing Is Condemned by Safety Council

CHICAGO (UP)—Drag racing was condemned today by the National Safety Council which urged "hot rodders" to seek other activities for their "energy and enthusiasm."

The council reached its decision after a questionnaire poll of more than 1,500 city and state traffic officials, school authorities and local safety councils.

Many "hot rod" clubs were engaged in worthwhile activities promoting traffic safety and good citizenship, the Council said. But it added that poll also revealed that more than 80 per cent of the clubs were primarily interested in racing.

The Council said it could not "condone speed even in the name of competition" since speed violations are so often involved in traffic accidents."

CORN AND DROUGHT — Secretary Ezra Taft Benson goes before the Senate's agriculture committee again to spell out his ideas on a variety of subjects, including drought aid and a general review of the drought's situation. He also faced a barrage of questions on the administration's corn program.

Another Earth Tremor in England

NOTTINHAM, England (UP)—The second earth tremor in 48 hours shook central England shortly after midnight, bringing hundreds of persons into the streets.

Police said the tremor lasted only three seconds and that there were no reports of injuries. The quake was less severe than one which caused considerable damage over a wide area of central England Monday.

Lesson Learned

UPSALA, Sweden (UP)—Police searched today for two inmates of an institution for juvenile delinquents who were out for driving lessons when they stole the car from their instructor.

East Coast Shipping Paralyzed

NEW YORK (UP)—A strike of 45,000 longshoremen tied up shipping along the Atlantic Coast today from Maine to Virginia.

Mediators and the disputing parties were optimistic over an early settlement, but the president of the striking dockworkers forecast a "lockdown, dragout battle."

Coupled with a 13-day strike of tug and barge crewmen, the dockworkers' walkout almost paralyzed the huge port of New York.

Ocean liners, already forced to dock without the aid of tugs, now faced the prospect of disembarking and taking on passengers compelled to carry their own baggage.

Fuel Supply Dwindles

Of greatest concern, however, was the tugboat strike, which has cut off 70 per cent of fuel deliveries to the Greater New York area, affecting an estimated 15 million persons. Continuation of a three-day cold snap, after a week of relatively mild weather, sharply increased fuel consumption, threatening the area with a serious fuel crisis by the week end.

Negotiators for the International Longshoremen's Assn. and the New York Shipping Assn., whose eleventh hour efforts failed Tuesday to avert a walkout, scheduled a meeting today with federal mediators, including Joseph F. Finnegan, chief of the U.S. Mediation Service.

White notes of optimism were sounded by several negotiators, ILA President William Bradley said, "I don't see any possibility of getting together for a while."

Some Jump Gun

"This is going to be a knockdown, dragout battle between us," he said.

The strike was scheduled to idle ports at Boston, Portland, Me., Providence, R.I., New Bedford, Mass., and Searsport, Me.

In some ports, longshoremen jumped the gun Tuesday. In New York, dockworkers handled the mooring lines of the liner Independence and then walked off their jobs at 4:40 p.m. while negotiators were still striving to head off a strike. The premature walkout forced some 790 passengers aboard the luxury liner to carry their own baggage.

Coal Study Is Underway

EBENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A group of congressmen made this Western Pennsylvania bituminous region their first stop today in a search for ways and means to keep the coal industry prosperous.

A house subcommitteee, with GOP Rep. John P. Saylor of Johnstown, as a member, scheduled a day-long hearing in the Cambria County Courthouse. Witnesses invited to appear included representatives of the United Mine Workers, the state Department of Mines, railroads, major soft coal firms in the Johnstown district, and business leaders from mining centers.

Saylor explained last week that the congressional group, part of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, seeks to keep the industry flourishing by finding new industrial uses for coal. In addition to the Ebensburg session, the subcommittee expects to conduct similar hearings in Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania anthracite fields, Virginia, and elsewhere.

"The purpose of the hearings", the Johnstown congressman said, "is to find out from people in the coal regions just what can be done with regard to the direction research should take for the development of the industry."

In addition to Saylor, members of the subcommittee are chairman Ed Edmondson (D-Okla), and Reps. William A. Dawson (R-Utah) and J. Edgar Chenoweth (R-Colo).

Monongahela Girl Is Killed

Struck by Auto in NewEagle

A 14 year old Monongahela girl died today of injuries received when she was struck by a car last night in New Eagle.

Margaret Ann Remen, of 620 Lincoln street, died at 9:40 o'clock this morning in Monongahela Memorial Hospital of head and internal injuries.

She was rushed to the hospital in critical condition last night after being struck by a car operated by John Urbank, of Box 149, Finleyville.

According to New Eagle Police Chief Pete Dragone, the accident occurred at 8:10 p. m. at the corner of Pine and Main street.

Crossing Street

Dragone said the Remen girl and two companions were crossing Main street after leaving a Dairy Bar.

Urbank, who was returning from a Monongahela drug store where he had just purchased medicine for his sick wife, told Dragone that he saw two of the girls, but failed to see Margaret Ann in time to avoid hitting her.

Dragone reported that it was snowing at the time.

Urbank posted $1,000 bond before Justice of the Peace Harry Anders pending a full investigation.

The Remen girl is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Remen.

FORMER SLAVE 113 YEARS OLD — Mrs. Sally Powell sits placidly and thinks back on her 113 years of life—back to the time when she was a slave. She is shown in Oak Forest infirmary, Chicago, where she marked her birthday on Sunday, February 10.

ate—John H. Dent and Rowland B. Mahany—contended they were under the impression Williamson would sever his connections with Penn State on assuming the turnpike position. Dent said he would not have voted to confirm Williamson if he had known he would continue on both payrolls.

Democrats Critical

Sens. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) and William J. Lane (D-Washington) were critical because Leader filled the turnpike vacancy with a man holding a top post in a leading educational institution. Yosko termed it "going into our colleges and universities and robbing them of people." He also criticized the governor for not picking a native Pennsylvanian for the turnpike job.

"I'll go along with no more carpet baggers who are recommended for positions in state government," Yosko said.

The first administration-backed bills for the session were introduced in the House. They would carry out the governor's announced intentions of making it more difficult for pressure groups or state employes to use their influence improperly—either on legislation or on matters within the jurisdiction of the administration.

The governor made one of his rare appearances in the Senate, of which he is a former member. Leader spoke briefly at a Senate tribute to Abraham Lincoln on the birthday of the Civil War President.

Council Asked for Secondary Paving

A large delegation of residents from Lookout and Alexander avenues this morning requested City Council to put secondary blacktop paving on the two unpaved streets.

Council said it would visit the area after this morning's meeting and then consider the request.

One member of the delegation informed Council that he had "been insulted" when he called an unidentified City employe to inquire if the City had any plans for paving the streets instead of oiling them. He said the employe told him: "That's good enough for you people up on the hill."

This information irked Mayor Hugo J. Parente and other members of Council. Parente said all City employes have been instructed to be courteous at "all times."

He requested any citizen to inform him and members of Council immediately if he receives mistreatment by any employe.

Council went on record to eliminate parking meter charges between Fourth and Sixth streets from 6 to 9 p. m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Council also went on record as supporting a bill introduced in Congress by Rep Francis M. Clark, D. of Beaver County. The bill requests Congress to "create a United States Domestic Public Works Bank to purchase obligations of local government bodies, when such obligations cannot be sold on the open market at interest rates of 3 per cent or less."

Mayor Parente said if such a bill was passed it will aid local governments "tremendously." He said when the Monessen Parking Authority sold $340 000 in bonds last year the Authority was charged an annual interest rate of 4.16 per cent.

FBI Arrests 'Most Wanted' Criminal on Tip

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP) — The FBI arrested one of its 10 "most wanted criminals" today on a tip from two newspaper readers who recognized his published picture.

FBI officials said escaped Utah convict Robert L. Green was seized in a St. Paul, Minn., bus depot, armed with a 32 caliber automatic. He surrendered without a battle, however, and was charged with unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Green's name was added to the wanted roster just two days ago. He had been sought by federal agents since Sept. 7, 1954, when he and a fellow convict dashed to freedom from the Utah state prison at Draper accompanied by a hail of bullets from guards' guns.

The felon had been serving sentences of one to 20 years for burglary and five years to life for armed robbery.

cently. The board also sent letters of sympathy to the bereaved families.

The question of what to do about the badly deteriorated Iowa School building was discussed again last night. Last month the board advertised for bids to raze the building. The bids were asked, however, according to Lancas, to determine "just how much money we could get if we did raze it."

Two firms submitted bids. The Josh Steel Co., of Braddock, would pay the district $6,350 and the Monessen Contracting Co., $4,720, or salvage rights. The board took no action.

Solicitor David Weiss told the board he has been informed by an attorney for the Manown Estate, which owns the property on which the school stands, that he wants to confer with Weiss about the Iowa School situation. Weiss advised the board to do nothing until after the meeting.

Stephen Sinchak, local real estate man, believing the razing of the building would cost the district money, withdrew his remarks about how to handle the situation when informed the board would lose no money but instead, would receive money.

The board will advertise for bids for chemical treatments of termites reported infesting two school properties.

Homebound instruction courses were approved for Nancy Metzgar and Stephen Biscoa, both of whom will be confined to their homes for the remainder of the school year.

Dr. Pallone said six student teachers from California State Teachers College are rendering "excellent service" in local schools.

The Peterson system of directed handwriting will continue being used in local schools at a cost of $900 per school term.

The following teachers were authorized to represent the district at various education events: Mrs Dorothy Hicks, Marjorie Chalfant and Helen Williams.

The board will meet with the Teachers' Committee on Thursday, Feb. 21, to discuss several matters, three of which pertain to contracts or substitute teachers, more liberal retirement policy and salary adjustments. It will be an informal meeting.

The board agreed to share the 4½ per cent wage increase granted to two clerks in the City Treasurer's office. The district will pay one-third and the City and County will also pay one-third each. The treasurer's office collects school taxes.

official results are announced by the union's international headquarters he would not concede the election unless the formal vote tabulation is against him.

No date has been set for the formal tabulation at the international offices here. Candidates must be advised of the outcome by May 1 as required by the union constitution. The unofficial tally may not be known for two or three days.

McDonald, 54, is a career unionist who rose from the mills of Pittsburgh to become top man in the nation's second largest industrial union. He inherited the union presidency after the death of the late Philip Murray in 1952. The post pays $50 000 a year.

Murray never had any opposition in his long years as USW President and neither did McDonald in his first election.

The present contest arose after the union's general convention at Los Angeles last September raised steelworkers' dues from $3 a month to $5 a month and raised the salaries of international officers and district directors.

Rank and file opposition to the $2 dues increase was born in the Pittsburgh area and was centered here almost entirely. An international Dues Protest Committee was formed with Rarick as chairman and the committee later announced a slate of candidates for the election.

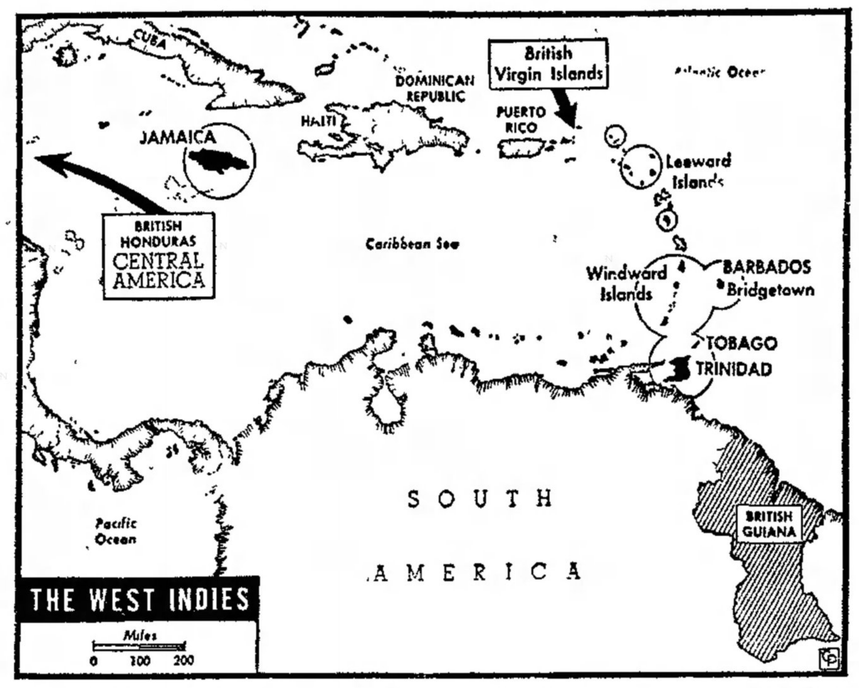
Rarick had about four months in which to campaign.

In addition to McDonald, the union's international Secretary Treasurer I. W. Abel, and the directors of District 15 Homestead-McKeesport, Pa. and District 28 Cleveland were opposed in the election.

Wants Congress to Probe Newsprint Hike

HARRISBURG (UP)—State Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) has introduced a resolution in the General Assembly calling upon Congress to investigate the rising cost of newsprint which he said "may drive many small newspapers out of business."

"It is of the utmost importance," the resolution reads, "that the newspapers continue to be published in the small towns and cities as well as in the metropolitan areas."



BRITISH MAY FORM CARIBBEAN FEDERATION — Five British colonies (circled) in the West Indies would be formed into a Caribbean Federation under a plan hanging fire in London. They are Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago, Barbados, and the Windward Islands and Leeward Islands. Capital would be a District of Columbia-like area near Bridgetown, Barbados. Colonies opposed to federation include British Honduras and British Guiana.

Millions Are Leaving Britain; Others Would Like to Quit

(This is the first of two dispatches on the massive migration of Britons aboard.)

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

LONDON (UP) — This is the story of a proud nation leaving home.

It is not a Hungary with 100,000 fleeing at risk of their lives. This is an orderly, methodical evacuation, done coldly and logically by thinking people who feel that once-great Britain has nothing more to offer.

An estimated 7 million men and women have picked up and left since the end of World War II. An authoritative public opinion poll revealed last week that two out of every five Britons interviewed would emigrate if they could. Projected on a national scale, this would mean that 20.5 million of the British Isles' 51.2 million inhabitants — nearly half the population — would like to go.

British Are Proud

The British are proud, and they have much of which to be proud. But a lot of them find life in these densely population isles no longer worth the extra sweat and effort.

It took Britain many years to recover from World War II. Some experts say she never recovered. The country is in debt. Production per worker is below many other countries.

Rationing carried through for some until 1952 — seven years after VE-Day. Coal is still rationed, 12 years after the war.

After the Suez crisis and the closing of the Suez Canal in November, the government announced the return of gasoline and fuel oil rationing. Simultaneously, prices shot up.

For hundreds of thousands, this was the "last straw."

In the first week after gasoline rationing, 10,000 persons swarmed to the Canadian immigration office. The Australian and New Zealand offices were jammed.

"We're running up to 3,000 a day," said Gordon Cummings, director of the Canadian Immigration Department. The line formed daily at 2 a.m.

Who are the applicants?

Not the swashbuckling adventurers or sparkling-eyed youths who won and populated the old empire. Most of the new migrants are well-educated citizens, many of them scientists and specialists, who carefully weighed their beloved country and found it painfully wanting.

John a 26-year-old Cambridge graduate, explained it this way. "Your house is burned down once. You keep that old stuff upper lip and build it again. But the second time you're inclined to say, 'The hell with it.' This place is unlucky."

John earns $30 a week, but pays $14 of that in rent. He could get a cheaper place — with an outside bathroom or no bathroom or a shared kitchen. So his wife works too, for $13 a week.

"I love my country but I can't see it," John says. "I want to work and work hard and get the benefits of hard luck. We're getting out."

Acid-tongued columnist "Cassandra" of the pro-Labor Daily Mirror, borrowing from Shakespeare's famous words, said:

"Their main reason for wanting to leave this sceptred isle, this earth of majesty, this other Eden, demi-paradise, this precious stone set in silver sea, this blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England, is that they can't afford to live in the tax-ridden and inflation-cursed place."

Woman Drowns Self; Trys to Kill Her Son

UNIONTOWN Pa. (UP) — A woman drowned herself in a farm pond Tuesday night after first trying twice to drown her 5-year-old son, police reported.

The boy, Eugene Svincek, scrambled from the shallow pond both times and after the second time ran screaming to a nearby house.

When neighbors and farm employes reached the pond they found Mrs. Joseph Svincek, 40, lying face down in the water. They tried artificial respiration but the woman did not respond.

Fayette County Detective Charles Kutchman said Mrs. Svincek had been ill more than a year and was discharged recently from a Pittsburgh hospital.

Eugene said his mother told him she would drown him and then herself.

New Material Formed Harder Than Diamond

NEW YORK (UP)—Creation of an entirely new material, as hard as a diamond and twice as resistant to heat, was announced today by the General Electric Company.

The material, called Borazon, was developed in the same Schenectady laboratory in which man-made diamonds first were produced some two years ago.

The material is a combination of boron and nitrogen forced into a cubic structure under pressures of 1 million pounds a square inch and temperatures of 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit in a container about the size of an eraser on a pencil, the company said.

Credit for its development was given to Dr. Robert H. Wentorf Jr., 30, a physical chemist and native of West Bend, Wis.

Dr. C. G. Suits, vice president and director of research for GE, said the creation of Borazon was "a major scientific achievement—the creation of a new material never observed in nature, with properties equalling or surpassing those of a material long thought to be the ultimate."

Borazon will scratch a diamond, and a diamond will scratch it, indicating they are of about equal hardness. But whereas a diamond oxidizes at about 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit, Borazon does not burn until temperatures reach about 3,500 degrees.

Borazon's crystalline structure is somewhat similar to that of diamonds, which are composed of carbon, the same element as coal.

Suits said industrial application of Borazon will be an improvement over diamonds, which are widely used in industry, because it is believed "Borazon's resistance to oxidation will make possible superior methods of mounting stones in industrial tools and also may allow bits and wheels to be operated at higher speeds, performing their cutting and polish jobs more quickly and efficiently."

PRR Train in Indiana Wreck; No One Injured

RICHMOND, Ind. (UP) — A Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train was involved in a wreck west of here today near Pershing, Ind., police and railroad spokesmen said.

Ambulances rushed to the scene from Richmond. It could not be learned immediately if anyone was killed or injured.

Authorities said the wreck involved train No. 14 traveling eastward from St. Louis to Pittsburgh.

A passerby who visited the wreck scene said he believed no one was injured. The man, reached by telephone at the Cambridge City police station, said "about three" cars near the center of the train were demolished. He said they were not passenger cars.

The man, who would not give his name, said the engine and four or five cars at the front of the train were not derailed. Several cars in the center section left the tracks.

Passenger cars hooked onto the rear of the train, described by railroad spokesmen as a "mail and express," were not derailed. It could not be learned immediately whether there were passengers in the cars.

Five Killed in Family Argument

JALAPA, Mexico (UP)—A christening celebration erupted into a family argument with pistols that left five dead and seven wounded in the nearby village of Ayahualuico, police said today.

Authorities said Salvador and Rosa Perez were bitterly divided on naming their son and each invited relatives to the baptism to help them decide. The parents were among the wounded.

Wilson to Stay

Soviet Fires 'Peace Shots'

Is First Move in Campaign

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet Union has fired the first shot in a new "peace campaign" to win friends among both the Western powers and particularly the Afro-Asian bloc, western observers said today.

Publication of the texts of three notes sent by the Soviet Union Monday to the governments of the United States, Britain and France was the first move in the new offensive, the observers said.

They said the conciliatory tone of the notes contrasted sharply with the harsh tone of Soviet statements and warnings to the West during last year's Middle East crisis and immediately following announcement of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

The Russians, in offering a clear cut alternative to the complicated and as yet vaguely defined American plan, are making an additional bid for the sympathies of the uncommitted African and Asian nations, the observers said.

It was pointed out the Soviet threats of tough action following the Middle Eastern and Hungarian crises were no more popular with the Arab - Asian bloc than the Anglo - French policy of intervention in Suez.

Other sources said it appeared the Soviet Union, in calling for overall disarmament and expansion of trade with Germany and the Mideast, was admitting its inability to handle extra military commitments in the current tense international situation.

Some diplomatic observers dismissed the notes as simple propaganda. Most westerners predicted the notes would be rejected by the Western powers since a complete military retreat from the Middle East as asked by Russia would only favor the Russians and offer them additional opportunities to penetrate the Arab countries economically and politically.

Official western reaction was expected here to take the line that the Soviet proposal ignores the United Nations which is currently regarded by Washington as the best channel for international agreements on disarmament and the maintenance of world peace.

West Calls Maneuver Propaganda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Western diplomats today viewed the Soviet move for a U.N. discussion of the Eisenhower Middle East Doctrine as a pure propaganda maneuver to divert the worlds attention from Hungary.

One diplomat said it appeared the Russians feared the Middle East situation was beginning to cool and that the spotlight would veer back to the Soviet crushing of the Hungarian people.

The General Assembly's Steering Committee scheduled a meeting for this afternoon to decide whether to place the Soviet request on the agenda for debate. The main political committee, meanwhile, continued its debate on Algeria.

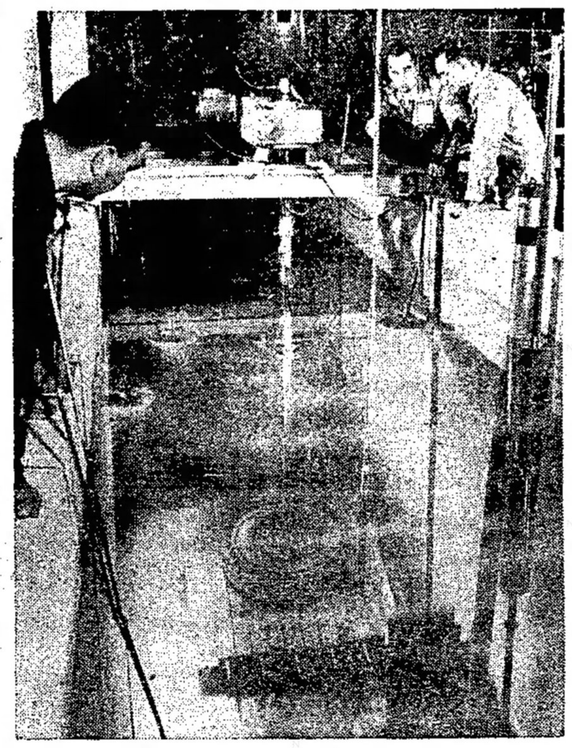
Informed sources said the United States probably would raise no serious objection to a debate on its military policies if a majority of the other nations wanted to go along with the Russian demand

One source pointed out that such a debate undoubtedly would result in more anti-Russian than anti-American speeches.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov sent a letter Tuesday to General Assembly President Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand demanding debate on the Eisenhower Doctrine and U.S. military policies as "acts of aggression" threatening world peace.

Quick discussion of the item would strengthen efforts aimed at lessening world tension, Kuznetsov said.

"A careful analysis of the international situation presents the conclusion that the policy of the United States more and more reflects aggressive tendencies which lead to a worsening of the international situation," Kuznetsov's four - page letter said.



ATOMIC ENERGY VULCANIZES TIRE — Being vulcanized by nuclear energy instead of heat, a rubber tire, encased in a steel mold, is rotated slowly over radioactive fuel elements in 17 feet of water at the National Reactor Testing station in Idaho. The B. F. Goodrich scientists watching are protected from radiation exposure by the deep water. This is the first commercial product in which vulcanization ever was achieved by nuclear energy.

State GOP Praised For Election Results

PITTSURGH (UP)—Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn Jr. congratulated Pennsylvania GOP leaders Tuesday night for a "fine job" in carrying the state for the party last November and called for an all out fight in 1958 to capture control of congress.

Alcorn, making his second major appearance since his elevation to his present post last month, spoke to the 55th annual Lincoln Day dinner sponsored by the Allegheny County COP Executive Committee.

At a pre-dinner news conference, Alcorn said he had "strong feeling" about the job turned in by Pennsylvania Republicans" in general and Allegheny Count yin particular."

"It was a fine feat," he said.

In next year's elections, Alcorn said, the Republican Party will "fight for every seat." Pennsylvania elects a full-slate of 30 congressmen, a governor and a U.S. Senator to succeed Edward Martin, who has announced he will not seek re-election.

Martin joined in lauding the Allegheny County Republican organization.

"Just think of it," he said. "With a Democrat lead of 161,000 in registration you carried the county for President Eisenhower by a majority of 60,000."

Alcorn told the Lincoln Day crowd that the Republican Party is a "party of inclusion ... there's room for everybody who is interested in good government."

The Democrats have a party of "exclusion and division," he said. It is the "only party that talks of class distinctions, attempts to play region against region, north against south, labor against management."

At the pre-dinner press conference, GOP state Chairman George I. Bloom said it was "too early" to think of selecting a candidate to run for Martin's senatorial seat.

"We have a session of the Legislature and local elections to worry about first," Bloom said.

Youth Shot for Tossing Snowballs

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Doctors removed more than 30 shotgun pellets today from the back and arms of a 12-year-old East Liberty boy who was shot by a neighbor for throwing snowballs.

Police said George Burnett, 70, felled Michael McHale with a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun after snowballs hit his house. The boy and his chum, Dennis Costa, 10, were having a snowball battle in a lot behind Burnett's home Tuesday night.

No Sharp Decline in Steel Demand Seen

NEW YORK (UP)—A sharp decline in steel demand is out of the question this year, Iron Age said today.

It said the recent easiness in demand for some steel products reflects a return to normal seasonal market influences — "nothing more."

The authoritative steel trade publication predicted steel operations for the year will average out between 88 and 90 per cent of capacity.

Iron Age said the easier tone in the sheet and strip market has been "built up for more than it's worth." It said "the tipoff is that mills which have made half an effort to hook flat-rolled business have been able to fatten their order books."

The publication said the trend toward a normal buyer-seller relationship in sheet and strip reflects a growing tendency to reduce inventories in which automotive buyers have taken the lead.

Here's how the steel picture shapes up quarter by quarter, according to an Iron Age survey:

First quarter, 96 per cent of capacity; second quarter, 90 per cent—or "slightly better"; third quarter, 80 to 84 per cent—"usual summer decline"; fourth quarter, 88-90 per cent.

The publication said "actually, the steel business is good." It noted some mills continue to operate at above capacity.

It pointed out plate users are getting some relief from the dropoff in demand for sheet and strip. This is because some mills are producing light plate to take up the slack on sheet and strip mills, Iron Age said.

It also said structural users are benefiting, "but not much." Some structural mills were working close to capacity before the easier tone in sheet and strip made itself felt, it said. Users of light structural shapes probably will get the best break, Iron Age said.

Bus Fare Increase Delayed Six Months

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission has suspended for six months a proposed increase in inter-city fares by 11 bus lines which the firms said was needed to maintain a competitive rate relation with the railroads on intra-state trips.

The commission said it would hold public hearings on the proposal as soon as possible.

The bus lines said the increase, filed to go into effect March 8, was needed to maintain the same differential which now exists between bus and rail fares in face of the recently allowed 5 per cent railroad coach fare increase.

The lines asking the increase are the Greyhound Corp., which operates throughout the state; Capitol Bus Co., Harrisburg, operating to Scranton and other Points; Frank Martz Coach Co., Wilkes - Barre, with routes between the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre area and Philadelphia; Reading Transportation Co., Philadelphia, running between Reading and Harrisburg.

Edwards Motor Transit Co., Williamsport, operating mainly in the northeastern section; Harmony Short Line, Pittsburgh, operating in the Pittsburgh suburban area; Potomac Motor Lines, Hagerstown, Md., with routes in the Waynesboro - Greencastle areas; Safeway Trails, Washington, D.C. operating in the southeastern section.

Lehigh Valley Transit Co., Allentown, operating between the Allentown - Bethlehem area and Philadelphia; Royal Blue Coaches Inc., Clinton, N.J., with routes in the Allentown-Easton area, and the Pittsburgh and Weirton Bus Co., Weirton, W. Va., running in the southwestern section.

The National Bus Traffic Association, acting as agent for the transit lines, pointed out that rail-coach service is competitive with inter-city bus service, particularly between major traffic points. It said the rail fares place an effective ceiling on bus fares.

But the association added that bus operators "have been, and are confronted with a very substantial increase in costs which has brought the industry to a point where its economic position is seriously jeopardized."

Dalfonso Renamed To Head Local Italian Society

Thomas P. Dalfonso was re-elected to a second term as president of the Italian Society of Mutual Aid at the annual election held at the New Italian Hall on Sunday.

Other officers elected for the coming year were Joseph Panepinto, vice president; John Catanzaro, recording secretary; Secondo Cavicchio, Italian recording secretary; Joseph Bafile, general financial secretary; Edmund Masci, dues collector; Tony B. Parnella, treasurer; Louis Stipoli, health officer and the following trustees; Frank Rischitelli, Angelo Gigliotti, Vincent Cheroki, Tony Meranda, Nello Tineri, Pat Ciarrochi and Sam DiBuono.

Serving on the election board were Domenick Cicchitto, chairman, Mike Jannotta, John Tallerico, John Fontana and Fred Gigliotti.

Uses Toy pistol; Captures Suspects

NEW Castle, Pa. (UP)—George Sigler, veteran New Castle policeman, used a toy pistol he had just purchased for his son to round up two suspected shoplifters Tuesday night.

Held in Lawrence County jail in default of $1,000 bond each on larceny charges were the off-duty policeman's captives, George Bradovitch, 46, Youngstown, and Charles Rodgers, 27, Parma.

Baby's Birth In Airliner Causes Stew

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — The birth of a baby in an airplane over continental Europe had the international law experts in a stew today trying to figure out her nationality.

Mrs. Fritzi Fangl, 25, gave birth to a girl in an Israeli plane over German territory Tuesday. Mrs. Fangl and her husband are Austrians. They live in Britain. The plane was enroute from Amsterdam to Vienna.

The Israel "El-Al" Airline said this may be the first case in airline history of the birth of a baby over continental Europe.

Experts said the baby could claim Austrian or Israeli citizenship but not German citizenship because she was born on Israeli territory (the plane) and only over German territory.

Scout Troop 3 To Be Honored

A dinner, honoring Boy Scout Troop 3, will be held tomorrow evening at 7 p. m. at the Memorial Civic Center.

The event, bing held as a part of Boy Scout Week observance, will feature Thomas Preston, former vocational director of Monessen public schools and a holder of the coveted Silver Beaver award, the highest award for the layman Scouter, as toastmaster.

The dinner is being served by members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Post sponsors the Troop.

Ray Purks is troop scoutmaster. Charles Beaumariage is chairman of the committee.

Leader to Speak On Miners' Day

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Gov. George M. Leader will be the principal speaker at a Miners' Day program here April 1, the United Mine Workers announced today.

Members of UMW District 4 and 5 will march in the annual parade.

Rotary Hears Truck Official; Elects Officers

Guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Rotary club yesterday was Milton Harris, president of Continental Express of Pittsburgh, and incumbent president of Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

Describing the growth of the trucking industry during the past 50 years, Harris cited its stature now as an indispensable mode of transportation, a substantial contributor of state and federal tax revenues, and a thriving, competitive employer of skilled men and women.

It is in the public interest, said Harris, that legislation affecting transportation be non discriminatory among the various types of carriers so that the public may have the most flexible service at the lowest possible rates.

In a business session preceding the speaking program, the club elected the following officers to serve during the year beginning July 1: president, William H. Pore; vice-president, Dr. James R. Gemmill; secretary, Charles Throop; treasurer, Edward Lhota. New directors named include David Evans, Carl Ewing, James Riddell and Harry Roberts.

Guests at the meeting were Francis Smith, of Belle Vernon; Dick Richardson, of Fayette City; Arthur Thulemanic, of Pittsburgh; and Jay Zeffiro, of Donora.

Canonsburg Cadet Is Forced Down

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—George P. Modrak, Canonsburg, Pa., naval cadet, was forced to land his TV-2 jet trainer in a field about five miles west of the Memphis Naval Air Station Tuesday when the engine flamed out.

Modrak suffered only a cut on his forehead. He was picked up by a helicopter and returned to base.

Belle Vernon Trucker Named in Damage Suit

Joseph E. Fenwick, of Brownsville, filed suit in court here yesterday for damages in excess of $1,000 as the result of a truck and trailer colliding with his automobile on Market street Hill, Brownsville, Sept. 5, 1955.

Named as defendants in the complaint are Harry Ziskind, Belle Vernon; Irving Equipment Co., Weirton, W. Va., and the Pittsburgh & New England Truck Co., with headquarters in East McKeesport. Fenwick is represented by Attys. Robert L. Webster and Hugh J. Lane.

Fenwick claims that as the result of the accident he sustained severe bruises and contusions of the left hip, left shoulder and a pulled muscle in the abdomen.

The suit also states he incurred severe shock to the nervous system, pain and mental anguish for which he may be obliged to spend various sums of money. He lists medical expenses already paid of $35 and avers he was unable to perform his usual employment for five weeks at a financial loss of $620. Damages to the Fenwick car are set at $144.74.

The suit claims Ziskind, an employe of the two defendant firms, was operating the truck and trailer combination in a westerly direction on Market street when the vehicles collided with his car.

The complaint states that the truck and trailer were owned by the Irving Equipment Co., but at the time of the accident were under lease by the Pittsburgh & New England Truck Co.

The plaintiff charges excessive speed, the driver did not have proper control of the truck and trailer and violation of load restrictions.

Belle Vernon 1957 Budget Presented; No Tax Changes

The proposed budget for this year was presented at the Monday evening meeting of Belle Vernon borough council. It will be posted for the next 10 days in the offices of the Municipal Authority of the Borough of Belle Vernon on Main street.

Also discussed was the proposed $27,000 bond issue which local voters passed at the last election.

There are no major budget changes and the proposed expenditure amounts to $29,162.40. There are also no tax rate changes. This money is to be used for street improvement. No action was taken on this matter and Solicitor John E. Costello was instructed to prepare the proper ordinance before the March meeting to be prepared for any action taken by the council.

Treasurer Patsy Ginglardi reported a balance of $9,271.47 in all accounts and tax collector reported that $340.13 was collected in taxes last month.

The salary of Police Chief Vincent Isenberg was raised to $285. monthly with a $15 addition as health officer. This is effective Feb. 1.

Present at the session were Joseph Caputo, John Cavanaugh, Sam VanBremen and Alex Basits, council members; Ginglardi, Isenberg, Costello and Street Commissioner Joseph Stephens.

It was reported that Locest alley is in bad condition, however Stephens announced that work on this street has already begun. He also announced that the Street Department has been hauling red dog to use on the streets damaged by the bad weather.

The sum of $125.33 was collected in the parking meters last month. It was reported that several meters are in need of repair and the services of Phillip Panepinto, of Monessen, will be secured for this work.

Fire Chief Kenneth Beazell reported the purchase of some minor equipment for the fire company. He also reported that the fire truck batteries will soon need replaced. John Sellaro was appointed fire truck caretaker.

Many Attend Marion Junior Canteen Dance

There were 127 area students in attendance when the Marion Junior High School canteen dance was held last week in the school gymnasium. Recorded music was played and presiding at the turntable were Bob Martsock, Mimi Gitas and Fred Koslosky.

Allegheny County Man Pardoned

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader, on the recommendation of the state Pardons Board, today pardoned Andrew Minarich, Allegheny County, who has been on probation for 13 years after serving a term for burglary and larceny.

The governor also granted these commutations of sentences:

John Bell and William M. Powers, armed robbery; Carroll Jackson and Willie Jones, both serving life terms for first degree murder; all of Allegheny County, and Curtis Wickham, Lackawanna County, burglary.

The commutations make the prisoners eligible for parole.

Damage Claims on Increase; Insurance Firms Are Jittery

(This is the first of two dispatches on the rapidly increasing amount of damage claims being filed in this country and what the hard-hit insurance companies think of it.)

By JEROME BRAZDA

NEW YORK (UP) — A ship collision results in an estimated $85 million in damage claims. An automobile collision spawns a $500,000 lawsuit. Courts are so jammed that in some cities it takes more than three years to get a case before a jury.

An inflating national trend toward more and bigger damage claims is giving insurance companies the jitters, a United Press survey showed today. The results are heavy losses by insurance companies, resultant rises in premiums, the need for greater coverage—and more lawsuits.

In New York state the flood of cases is getting so bad that in Queens County, part of New York City, an aggrieved party filing a damage suit tomorrow can expect to wait 46 months, nearly four years, before his case comes up for trial.

Award Bigger Sums

In addition, juries are awarding bigger sums, on the average, at a rate far outstripping the cost of living and the rise in insurance premiums.

In the 1945-46 judician year the average verdict in jury trials before the New York state Supreme Court resulted in a judgment of $5,298. During the 1955-56 judicial year, the average judgment was $10,329.

The sums involved ranged the way from insignificant amounts to settlements in excess of $200,000.

Insurance men blame both the greater frequency and increasing size of suits on "claims consciousness." People hear of big claims for aches of the body and heart and this inspires them to sue for "10 times the amount they expect to get," one insurance agent said. "They don't realize how many of these suits never get to court or are cut way down to size when they do," he said.

How much a person gets, if any, is not based on any formula. Most of the claims are settled out of court. When they do go to trial the award is up to the jury and the amount is contingent on a host of obvious human factors.

Out of Court Settlements

The most common claims are those resulting from auto accidents. But some of the biggest ones in recent years have arisen from the big transportation tragedies of the same period.

The collision of the liners Andrea Doria and Stockholm resulted in 50 deaths, innumerable injuries and at least $85 million in third-party claims. These claims range from one woman's suit of $1,550,000, for loss of her husband and one child and the injury to herself and another child, to claims of a few hundred dollars to compensate for lost baggage.

The two lines are putting up $6.2 million in bonds, expected by insurance sources to be sufficient for settlement of the claims.

The 1950 Thanksgiving Eve wreck of two Long Island Railroad trains killed 79 persons, injured hundreds and cost the railroad's liability underwriters an estimated $11.5 million. The original suits totaled roughly eight times that amount.

Every major airline crash results in millions of dollars worth of claims and lawsuits.

But most of these big cases are handled by international insurance combines. It's the individual cases that the American firms are concerned with and there appears to be no limit to their increase.

Connellsville to Get CD Director

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today announced the appointment of John W. Moore as civil defense director for the city of Connellsville.

Other civil defense directors named for various western Pennsylvania boroughs were:

Albert L. Renaud, Bruin; Lynn C. Wulfert, Petrolia; Harvey W. Shomo, Jr., Lorain; Homer Jeffries, Marion Center; Paul E. Fuller, Meyersdale, and Harold L. Koontz, Stoystown.

To Revive the Censors Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—A move was underway in the General Assembly today to inquire into the legality of censoring movies for possible revival of the Pennsylvania State Board of Censors.

A House resolution calls for the Joint State Government Commission, research arm of the Legislature, to obtain legal opinions concerning enacting a law prohibiting the showing of obscene movies.

The House already has received several bills aimed at recreating the board which was ruled unconstitutional last year by the state Supreme Court.

The new proposal was sponsored by Reps. James Musto (D-Luzerne); Joseph G. Wargo (D-Lackawanna) and Marion L. Munley (D-Lackawanna).

Many Making Tax Errors, Director Says

District Director of Internal Revenue, John H. Bingler, today expressed concern over the frequency of error in individual income tax returns. Many are being received without complete addresses. A return must show the street address, as well as the City in which the taxpayer resides.

Numerous returns are being filed on Form 1040-A disclosing income in excess of $5,000, sick pay exclusions, or Social Security tax credits. Such returns must be filed on Form 1040.

Other returns do not have Form W-2 attached. On the other hand, some taxpayers are mailing Forms W-2 without an income tax return. Errors in tax computation are also being noted, most frequently from use of the wrong tax table.

A number of taxpayers are failing to sign their returns, and some are failing to list the names of their dependents. Erroneous credits are being claimed for Social Security tax withheld in excess of $84. Credit for excess Social Security tax withheld is allowable only if the employee worked for more than one employer. If a single employer deducts more than $84. Social Security tax, reimbursement should be obtained from the employer, not the Government.

Bingler said:

"If taxpayers take a few extra minutes to review their return, many of these errors will be discovered before the return is filed. We are interested in issuing refund checks as promptly as possible, but an incomplete or incorrect return results in delay which can be avoided by a careful check of the income tax return, before it is mailed to us."

Postwar Record Visas Issued During Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department reported Monday that a postwar record of 828,586 visas were issued during the year which ended last June 30. This was 138,677 more than in the previous fiscal year.

Visas issued for immigrants totalled 332,499, also a postwar record. Scott McLeod, State Department administrator for security and consular affairs, said the increase was brought about by the refugee relief act which expired last Dec. 31.

Of the immigrant visas, some 6,200 went to Hungarians under the Refugee Relief Act.

The freatest number of visas went to Mexico whose citizens received 65,570. Other nations getting big numbers of visas were Germany with 33,456, Canada 30,769 and Britain, including her colonies, 23,220.

Squabbling 'Comrats'

DYING REMNANTS of a once powerful threat to the free enterprise system of government has just concluded a "convention" in New York in an effort to consolidate the various disassociated, disgruntled segments of the movement. This was the first national conclave of the American communist party in seven years.

Down to an FBI-estimated 20,000 members, the party today finds itself split into at least three diverse viewpoints — the Stalin followers, the Khrushchev followers and the Tito or more independent believers. It is almost amusing to watch the antics of these would-be revolutionists whose following has dropped so low that one of their main activities is intra-party squabbling.

William Foster, chairman of the American communist party, is the leader of the pro-Stalin forces; Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the party, heads the pro-Khrushchev group, and John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker, is chief of the Tito followers. Those were the alignments as of yesterday. Perhaps by tomorrow they will be reshuffled again.

With the party reduced to its present inauspicious status and more than half of its members residing in New York City, interested American officials are able to maintain close tabs on party officials. Their activities at the moment seem to be devoted largely to squabbling among themselves and attempting to solve financial difficulties.

Not to mention the fact that most of the top leaders of the party are just back from federal prison terms.

It took a long time for the radical element in American politics to come to its senses, and of course not all of it has. But the Kremlin switcheroos from one hero to another, with the accompanying denunciations, executions and general upheavals have so confused the Marx-Lenin "intellectuals" in the United States, that the party as it now exists can be written off as a frustrated clan of trouble-makers which no longer seems able to recognize the signals.

For Consideration

MONESSEN, like most other American communities its size, finds itself more and more deeply involved in the routine task of regulating its automobile traffic. Up to now this has been considered a police matter since it comes down to a case of enforcing the law.

There is a vast difference, however, between directing traffic at an intersection and apprehending a hit-run driver. There is a wide gulf between writing up a tag for someone who has over-stayed his parking meter and the highly technical police work involved in hunting down a burglar, finding the bad check artist or curbing juvenile criminals.

Is it not time to separate the law enforcement from the administrative business of traffic regulation? Is it not possible that in using policemen as clerks we are not only watering down the effectiveness of policemen but also paying out more tax money than is necessary to secure some very routine service?

Starting pay for a patrolman in Monessen is about $300 per month, and obviously the average is coonsiderably more. We don't know what the police department figures is its average cost for tagging a meter violation, for instance, but we suggest it could be less if the job were done by someone other than a patrolman.

Auxiliaries, Ladycops, persons other than heads of families, or persons interested in less than full time employment suggest themselves as alternative employes for such a task. A rate of pay adequate for the work and satisfying to such persons could be arrived at with possible money savings to the City and certainly an economy of patrolmen, which may be equally important.

The use of auxiliary police for traffic detail has been effective here for some time, and extension of the practice seems to be worthy of study. It represents possibilities at least for an administration hemmed in by rising costs and the need for more and better police service.

A Wise Selection

THE PRESIDENT'S nomination of D. Malcolm Anderson to be U. S. Attorney for Western Pennsylvania is deserved recognition for Mr. Anderson and a logical choice for the government.

A native of Donora, Mr. Anderson has been the acting Attorney since August, 1955. Absence of Senate opposition to the nomination seems to assure him of prompt confirmation in the post.

In addition to his strong professional qualifications, Mr. Anderson has given an on-the-job demonstration that he understands the mission of the attorneyship and is dedicated to faithful performance.

An able man in this sensitive post inspires confidence that the job will be well done and it likewise increases the likelihood that others of ability will serve when called upon.

One reason it's unlikely we'll ever be permanently mad at the British is that Bermuda makes such a wonderful place for a conference.

Merry-Go-Round—

Says President Lacks Intimate Facts on Suez

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The President still seems handicapped by a lack of intimate knowledge regarding important events in the civilian world.

At last week's press conference, he was asked why he would not apply sanctions to Egypt as well as Israel, in view of the fact that Egypt likewise had spurned a United Nations resolution forbidding her ban on Israeli ships through the Suez Canal.

Mr. Pearson

I am not aware of any resolution the UN might have enacted to do anything about it, the President replied.

He did not know that on Sept. 1, 1951 the UN Security Council unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon Egypt to cease its ban on Israeli shipping through the Canal. This had the same force as the recent UN resolutions calling upon Israel to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and from the small islands in the Gulf of Aqaba. However, no sanctions were applied to force Egypt to obey, and Israel lacked the economic whip which Colonel Nasser now holds over the West by threatening to close Suez.

What Israel did at the time her own ships were banned from Suez was to develop the Gulf of Aqaba. This is the back door of Israel and is why the two little disputed islands are so important. The Gulf of Aqaba is a long finger of water reaching down from Southern Israel to the Red Sea and thence to the Indian Ocean. By using it, Israel can ship over land across her own southern desert, the Negev, and reach the Orient without using Suez.

This route could also be of tremendous importance if a pipeline was laid across it. Extending all the way over friendly Israeli territory, it would not be subject to Arab interference. Furthermore, a Canal rivalling Suez might be built from the Mediterranean to the Gulf of Aqaba — though it would cross hilly terrain and would be expensive.

However, Nasser, after blocking Israeli ships through Suez, then proceeded to seize the strategic islands at the mouth of Aqaba, thereby completely cutting off this vital backdoor route to the Indian Ocean.

This is why Israel refuses to budge from these islands without guarantees they will not fall into hostile Egyptian hands once again.

Dulles's Errors

The current impasse over sanctions at the UN is due to three crucial errors in Dulles-Eisenhower policy. They are:

1. When Nasser first seized the Canal, Dulles failed to treat the Suez question as a package deal. He failed to realize that Suez, peace between the Arabs and Israel, Near East irrigation, dams on the Nile, and British-French Canal rights are all wrapped up together. They cannot be solved piecemeal.

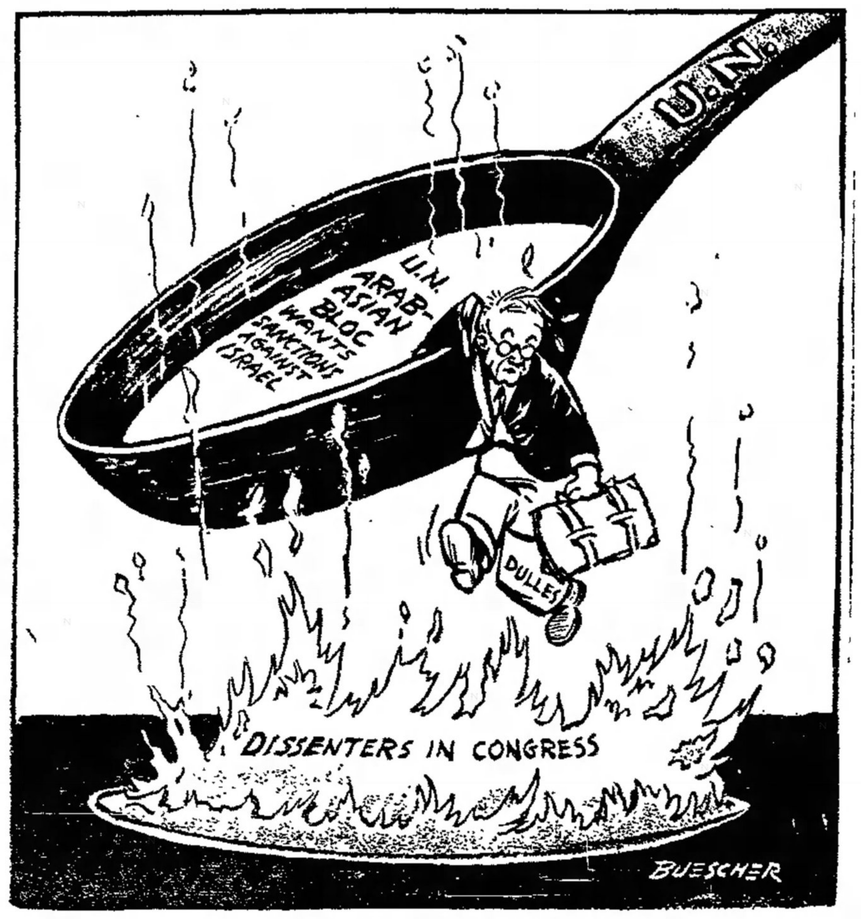
2. After the Israeli-Franco-British attack, when Nasser was cringing in a Cairo cellar, he would have accepted any terms. Dulles was then sick. But Eisenhower failed to exact any terms. The package peace plan then would have been much more readily accepted. Eisenhower, however, seems so anxious to prove the United States to be the champion of the Afro-Arab bloc that he rescued Nasser without exacting anything in return.

3. Two weeks ago, when Canada proposed a package resolution whereby Israel was guaranteed UN occupation of the Gaza Strip and the Aqaba islands simultaneous with her withdrawal, the United States refused to back this resolution. The Canadian package plan probably would have been accepted by Israel. But once again the United States went in for piecemeal diplomacy.

Under The Dome

Dewey Short, the defeated GOP Congressman from Missouri, is scheduled to be assistant secretary of the Army in charge of civil and military affairs . . . Congressman Scrivner of Kansas, a Republican power in the House, has told friends he will retire after he finishes out this term . . . George Meany struck another blow for clean trade unionism when he gave the nod to President Jim Suffridge of The Retail Clerks to join the 29-member AFL-CIO executive council. Suffridge heads one of the cleanest and most progressive unions in the USA . . . Senator Langer of North Dakota has been polishing up some questions on the family oil holdings of new under secretary of state Christ Herter. Mrs. Herter, a Pratt, is heiress of part of Standard Oil of New Jersey's millions. Several senators want to know Herter's views on oil and whether he will be active in Near East oil policy. They recall that Dulles's law firm, Sullivan and Cromwell, represents Standard of New Jersey, and that the retiring under secretary, Herbert Hoover, Jr., was executive vice president of Union Oil of California, whose affiliate, Gulf Oil, has tremendous holdings in the Near East.

Scorching Predicament



From Washington—

Defection Among the Communists

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — We are just beginning to get a fuller picture of the extent to which the Hungarian uprising and especially its bloody suppression by Soviet Military intervention have brought waves of disaffection and defection to the ranks of Communists and fellow-travelers in Western Europe.

Mr. Drummond

These events are quite evidently raising grave difficulties for the leadership of the Communist parties and are disrupting their functioning. Here is a survey of some of the principal consequences:

IN GREAT BRITAIN — After a brief moment of wavering in its attitude toward the Hungarian rebellion, the London "Daily Worker" firmly embraced the Moscow line and termed the rebellion "the effort of counter - revolutionary forces financed and supported by the U. S. and other imperialists and fascists."

Several leading British Communists and fellow-travelers publicly criticized the Communist Party, among them F. Cadogan, a member of the Communist Executive who said: "I am ashamed of the Russian action in Hungary and also of the attitude of the Executive of the British Communists."

Many Quit Party

There were 15 other prominent Communists or fellow-travelers who joined in a statement to the "New Statesman and Nation" in criticizing the British Communist party for its attitude.

Six members of the staff of the "Daily Worker" resigned in protest against the Soviet intervention in Hungary, and 12 ranking members of five different trade unions resigned from the Communist Party, as did a number of others outside the labor movement.

These criticisms and resignations did not stem solely from the Hungarian situation; rather the Hungarian rebellion touched off the growing dissension within the party.

IN FRANCE — The Kremlin's crushing of the Hungarian workers brought dissension and protest from intellectual and labor elements in the party. The trend of protest was highlighted by the resignation of the prominent writer Jean-Paul Sartre from the Franco-Soviet Friendship Society. He declared in an interview: "I condemn Soviet aggression entirely and without reservation. . I break regretfully, but entirely, my relations with my friends, the Soviet writers who do not denounce — or cannot denounce — the massacre in Hungary."

Other leading French left-wing intellectuals — Simone de Beauvoir, Francois Mauriac — protested similarly, and such leading Communists as Jaques Rolland, Claude Roy, Roger Vaillant and Claude Morgan, editor of the Communist weekly "Lettres Francaises," vigorously rejected the Kremlin line on Hungary.

The big, Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor tried to call a mass strike under the slogan of "Great Day of Unity and Action Against Fascism." More than 95 per cent of France's miners remained at work. Only 3,200 of 600,000 metal workers in Paris struck for half an hour. At the Renault plant, an old C. G. T. stronghold, only 255 out of 39,000 obeyed the strike call.

Leaders Critical

IN ITALY — Here dissidence and defection were highly placed. Pietro Nenni, head of the powerful pro-Communist Partito Socialista Italiano, declared in the Chamber of Deputies that he could not stomach the Communist line on Hungary. For the first time in the life of his 10-year-old "pact of unity" with the Communists, Nenni dared to oppose Togliatti, his Red mentor.

Eleven Rome reporters and editors of the Communist and pro-Communist press protested because the Italian Communist Party failed to support the Hungarian workers.

Several Communist editors throughout Italy resigned and when Communist leaders in Devadola, heart of the heavily Red Emilia region, called a meeting to explain the official line on Hungary, only one person showed up.

IN DENMARK — Horror over Hungary swept Denmark. The press carried daily reports of membership resignations and protests by Communist and fringe groups. Communist Party membership losses were placed at 20 to 30 per cent. Sixteen of the 21 regular members of the staff of the Communist organ "Land Og Folk," refused to handle copy from sources behind the iron curtain until Party leaders disavowed Soviet policies.

The Communist parties in western Europe remain useful tools of Moscow but they have been wounded and weakened.

Behind The News—

Reds, Satellites Face Economic Difficulties

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia and its satellites are facing serious economic difficulties.

The situation stems from the rebellions in Poland and Hungary.

Russia itself, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary are the countries chiefly affected. But the difficulties extend also to other Soviet satellite nations.

The Soviet government has disclosed some of the problems involved in a series of announcements that started in December with the dismissal of Deputy Premier Maxim Z. Saburov, its chief economic planner.

Russia has sharply cut back the rate of its industrial expansion. East Germany and Czechoslovakia are threatened by possibly the biggest shortage of coal since the end of World War II. Hungary's whole economic situation is little better than chaotic.

Reasons For Troubles

What has happened is that the tightly-interlocking economic systems of Russia and the satellites have been thrown out of gear.

For years, Russia was able to direct, exploit and loot the industries of its Communist satellites.

Now Poland is directing its industry for its own good under Wladyslaw Gomulka, its independent Communist leader.

Poland's coal was used, for instance, for Russia's benefit until its rebellion. This coal was sold, by Russian demand, at lower than world prices. Now the Soviet government has been compelled to agree to renegotiate its coal contracts, but even with that, Poland is getting first bid in its own production.

Hungary, which was a source of food, raw materials and industrial products for countries of the Soviet bloc, has become a liability instead of an asset and is crying for aid from Russia.

Production Goods Missed

On January 30, the Soviet government announced that there was a rise of 11 per cent in industrial production in 1956. But it disclosed that the basic industries of steel, coal and building materials, among others, had failed to meet their quotas for the year.

Last Saturday the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, approved a 1957 budget which provided for the biggest cutback in 20 years in the rate of economic expansion.

On Feb. 6, Bruno Leuschner, chief economic planner for East Germany, announced that 1957 production quotas must be cut and the program for capital investments whittled down because of the failure of Poland and Hungary to meet their export agreements.

The most serious immediate problem for the East German Reds is the coal shortage. Communist leaders have started to appeal to technicians and ordinary workers to volunteer for service in German mines to help make up the shortage.

Worst Since War

Western Intelligence sources in Berlin report that the coal shortage threatens to be the most serious since the war, and that lack of fuel has caused cuts in electric power to factories.

On Feb. 8, Czechoslovak Premier Viliam Siroky announced that unless Czechoslovak miners increased coal production there would be a serious decline in the output of industrial goods.

In addition to all these developments of the last few weeks, there is the fact that many leading economists are most skeptical of all Russian statements boasting of industrial expansion.

Especially they doubt all figures and estimates which tend to show that Russia's rate of production is ever likely to overtake that of the United States in the foreseeable future under the best conditions

Fairly Spoken—

Grammar's Dilemma Colloquially Solved

By MARGARET LATROBE

Do you say, "Is it I?" or "Is it me?" Which is your taste — "Am I not? Aren't Iu Ain't I0" And how do you stand on the who-whom dilemma? Avoid it altogether, I bet.

Mrs. Latrobe

Most of us recognize "To whom it may concern . . ." as good usage, but are happily ignorant of the rule governing "whom." Sure-tongued speakers try to remember that "whom" is used after prepositions, except in instances they can't remember. Except after prepositions, they use "who." Sharp ones, who know they are out on a limb, simply change their sentences to avoid the who-whom blockade. Rather than "To whom did you give the $5,000?" they say, "Whadja do witha dough?"

I fancy myself as speller extraordinary and grammarian superb, which news is certain to put the head office editors in deep shock. They have a positive aversion to the slightest airy ways with noun complements, qualifying conjunctions and all like that. They hanker for pure 18th century prose, they do, and whomever don't come up with same just doesn't know any better.

Between you and I, us writers have trouble enough figuring where we are at on tomorrow's work without engaging in controversy with out betters, is what I say. When we inject a well-placed "ain't" in a story and the editor solemnly changes it to "isn't" — well, ain't that life for you! Fellow who leans to 18th century prose is probably a literary snob and not hep to Dr. Bergen Evans ($64.000 questions author) who says ain't I is as good as aren't I.

So long as you do know better, you can make some perfectly outlandish mistakes in grammar and be thought quaint and colloquial. But unforgivable is the innocent boner which everybody notices but you.

"He don't care" — frightful. She "enthused" over the play — awful. I expect, used for I suppose — never. "Little Johnny can read good" — shades of Rudolph Flesch! "If you had of seen the movie" — worse than having saw it. "There was no use in him going" — ah, me! "Yourself and friends are invited" — stay home, friend. "Kindly advise" is the most unkindest cut of all.

Now and then self-same horrors, used for a purpose, can be amusing. Just so the user knows good usage from bad. The idea is to be quaint, but not ignorantly quaint.

Authorities cannot or will not agree even on what is the best English usage. One linguist thinks highly of "youse" adding that "you are" doesn't make sense in the singular form. (We don't say "I are" — why "you are" —?) Southern "you all" is perfectly correct, in the plural — which is the way Southerners use it.

Pass that dictionary, friend. I can never remember how many "r's" in occurred. Even for we experts, spelling and grammar ain't no cinch.

Girl Scouts Entertain for Mothers

Senior Scout Gets First Class Award

Last night the annual Mother-Daughter Girl Scout banquet for the Monessen Neighborhood area was held at the Slovak Home at 6:30 and one of the Girl Scouts, Cassie Vivian, was signally honored. She was presented with the First Class badge by Mrs. Margaret Schilling and was pinned by her mother, Mrs. A. Vivian.

Cassie is 15 years old and was a member of Brownie Troop Five for three years, an Intermediate Scout with Troop 24 for four years and is presently a member of Senior Troop 19. She attended Camp Wesco for six years and Monessen Day Camp for six years. She has earned 10 proficiency badges four in the "Out of Doors" category and six from five other fields.

Jewel Theme

Mrs. Robert Farr, neighborhood committee program chairman, arranged the banquet. The theme was "Mother Is A Jewel" and covers were laid for 415 Girl Scouts and guests. The tables were centered with jeweled crowns flanked by tall white tapers. Miniature candy filled crowns were used as favors and jeweled cards marked each place. These decorations were all made by the Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Sophie Hyrchak was general chairman of the banquet and the song leader was Mrs. Jane King. The Girl Scout grace, "For Health and Strength" and the "Hello" song were sung by the group.

Pat Cherkin, president of the Senior Girl Scout Troop, served as toastmaster and also spoke on "What Scouting Means to Me". Another Senior Scout, Suzanne Stieska, gave a humorous reading, "Mother's Tools".

Leaders Introduced

Mrs. Edith Hanlon, president of the Neighborhood committee, was introduced and she in turn introduced the Area Council women and Neighborhood committee women present. Each leader identified herself and her troop. Also introduced were Mrs. Edwin Dawson, Area Council president, Mrs. Peg Szymansky, president of the Belle Vernon Neighborhood committee and Mrs. Georgina Superfisky, president of the Triad Neighborhood committee.

The Juliet Low Friendship Fund made up of birthday contributions from all troops was presented by Mrs. Dorothy Doty to Council

The evening was concluded by an hour presentation by the Mason Marionette Show.

Mrs. Samuel Russell and Family

3 Memorials

In loving memory of my dear brother, James Michael Kulenic, who died two years ago today, February 13, 1955.
Two lonely years have passed away
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well.
Your end was sudden, Jim,
It made us weep and cry,
But, oh, the saddest part of all
You never said goodbye.
God gave us strength and courage
To carry the blow, what it means to miss you
God will only know
You have taken your long, last journey
In the beautiful ship called Rest
Away from this world of sorrow
To the home of Eternal Rest
Sadly missed by sister, Roseann

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Carmine Orrico, who passed away 37 years ago today, February 13, 1920.
'Twas just 37 years ago today,
Our hearts were made to weep,
As we watched our loved one pass away
Into that quiet sleep.
Beautiful memories of you so dear,
We cherish still with love sincere
A day that comes with sad regret,
And one that we shall never forget.
Sadly missed by Wife and Daughters

In loving memory of our dear son brother and nephew, James Michael Kulenic, who died two years ago today, February 13, 1955.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find,
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment, always right
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew
One in a million, that Jim was you.
Two years have passed, our hearts are still sore,
As time rolls on, we miss you more;
A loving son, tender and kind,
What beautiful memories you left behind'.
Sadly missed by Mother, Dad, Sisters, Brothers, uncles, Michael Migun and Capt. Peter Migun.

In loving memory of our dear wife, daughter and sister, Mrs Catherine Contine, who died two years ago today, February 13, 1955.
How silently and sweetly you sleep
The angels must have known
That you were meant for them
And claimed you as their own
Did you feel our lonely ache?
Did you hear us mourn and cry?
Perhaps you did because we know
It's just farewell and not goodbye.
Sadly missed by Husband, Father, Brothers and Sisters

In loving memory of our dear husband, and father, Rosolino (Rosie) Sagona, who died nine years ago today, February 13, 1948
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Friends may think we forgot you
When at times we seem to smile.
Little do they know our sorrow
That the smiles hide all the while
We think of you in silence
No eyes can see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
While others are asleep.
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere,
How often we wish that you were here.
Sadly missed by Wife, Sons and Daughters

TEST NEW BOILING WATER REACTOR — The dome-shaped building (top) at Lemont, Ill., houses the Argonne National Laboratories' experimental boiling water reactor, a new system for generation of power from nuclear fuels. It is the first one in the Atomic Energy Commission's power reactor program to be completed. At bottom is a view of the reactor's main equipment room showing the top of the reactor chamber in foreground, and the nuclear fuel handling device and storage tank in the background. At left is Leonard W. Fromm, project engineer of reactor and building design, and at right is Dr. Sidney Bernsen, engineer.

Ohio Considers Four Holidays on Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP) — The Ohio Legislature is considering a proposal to celebrate four major holidays on Monday.

The bill, which has considerable support from business and industry, cleared its first hurdle in the Legislature Tuesday when it was recommended for passage by a Senate committee.

Sen. Ross Pepple (R-Lima), sponsor of the bill, said he understands measures similar to the Ohio proposal are to be submitted in Congress this year and in the Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana legislatures.

The proposed calendar change would require Memorial Day to be the last Monday in May. Independence Day would be the first Monday in July. Thanksgiving the third Monday in November. A President's Day would come on the third Monday in February to observe the birthdays of Presidents Washington, Lincoln, Franklin D. Roosevelt and others.

The bill sailed through the Senate committee with only the local Watch Washington Club and the Daughters of the American Revolution opposing it. They called it part of a "progressive plan of un-Americanism."

Main purpose of the proposed legislation would be to "revitalize" three holidays and "make something important" out of Presidents Day, according to Pepple.

"I expect a tough fight on this bill," declared Pepple.

"A lot of people thought it was a 'screwball' proposal when they first heard about it, but I'm firmly convinced it will pass in Ohio and set a precedent for the rest of the country."

Steel Output Is Exceeding Expectations

NEW YORK (UP)—Steel output throughout the country exceeded expectations last week but schedules this week are lower according to the American Iron & Steel Institute weekly report of production.

Mills this week are scheduling production at 96.5 per cent of capacity to yield 2,469,000 net tons of steel, an index of 153.7 based on average 1947-1949 output.

Last week the industry operated at 97.1 per cent to yield 2,485,000 tons, an index of 154.7, and ahead of the 2,472,000-ton output which had been scheduled.

A month ago the industry operated at 96.4 per cent for 2,467,000 tons, an index of 153.6, and a year ago at 98.8 per cent for 2,433,000 tons and an index of 151.5.

Devise System For Marking Of Hub Caps

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—A San Antonio policeman has developed a system for permanently branding auto hub caps so as to discourage thieves from a racket that costs motorists $17 million annually.

Even if his method doesn't prevent thefts, Lt. W. J. Robitsh said it will enable car owners to identify stolen hub caps that police recover.

By Robitsh's plan, owners would have each hub cap engraved with the last four digits of the permanent identification number now used by Texas law enforcement officers to identify vehicles. The markings could be made by a small hand engraving device, and would be placed near the valve stem hole where it would be virtually unnoticeable.

Quebec Shrine Renovation Is Being Planned

STE. ANNE De BEAUPRE, Que. (UP) — An elaborate combination porch and terrace called a parvis will be built this year to replace the present steel stairs at the entrance to the Ste. Anne de Beaupre basilica.

The imposing structure will be of white granite and will measure 60 by 276 feet.

Members of the Redemptorist Order, guardians of the shrine on the banks of the St. Lawrence River near Quebec city, say work on the parvis will start this spring. The fathers hope it will be ready for celebration of the shrine's tercentenary in 1958.

It is possible that religious plays will be staged there. Years ago the parvis was used as a stage for the presentation of church plays and tableaux.

Because many pilgrims who visit here come in wheelchairs and on strechers, hoping for a miracle that will cure their ailments, ramps will be built beside the center flights of 22 steps each. The entrance to the crypt will be between the two center flights of stairs.

The Redemptorist Fathers said plans for the parvis were designed by Louis N. Audet of Sherbrooke, Que. They said the structure will follow the same combination of Gothic and Romanesque architectural style of the basilica.

The Redemptorists also hope before long to complete the two steeples for the basilica, which was opened in 1927 as the sixth church to be built in Beaupre. Work has gone ahead as funds have become available.

Great Lakes Origin 13,000 Years Ago

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP) —The Great Lakes began forming about 12,000 to 13,000 years ago as the last great glacier receded northward, according to a University of Michigan scientist.

Dr. James B. Griffin, an archeologist, said radioactive carbon tests of prehistoric bones and relics were used to fix the age of the lakes.

Luzerne County Judge Is Named

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has asked state Senate confirmation of his appointment of Arthur A. Maguire, of Plains, as judge of Luzerne County Orphans Court, succeeding Judge Benjamin R. Jones, who was elected to the state Supreme Court last November.

Spurned Suitor Tosses Acid in Girl's Face

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)— A college student was held under $10,000 bond today on charges of searing a girl's face with acid so "she would have scars and marks to remember me."

Authorities said James W. Sprouse, 23, Bakersfield, Calif., signed a statement Tuesday admitting the acid attack against a girl who refused him a date.

Sprouse said he got the idea "from the case where Victor Riesel lost his eyes the same way."

The student was referring to the acid attack in New York last April on Riesel, syndicated labor columnist who had been invited to testify on labor racketeering before a congressional committee. Abraham Telvi, the acid thrower, later was slain by gangsters for demanding more money for the attack that blinded the columnist.

Physicians at St. John's Hospital, said the victim, Carol A. Clark, 18, Reading, Mich., was in fair condition with severe burns about the face, arms and legs. However, they said her glasses kept her from being blinded.

The attack occurred Tuesday in a downtown cafeteria where they both worked. Three other persons were splashed by the acid and suffered lesser burns. They were Constance Y. Moore, 18, Camden, Mich., Mrs. Alice Dickson, co-owner of the cafeteria, and an unidentified baker boy.

Carol was splashed with a pint tumbler full of sulphuric acid as she stepped through a kitchen door in the cafeteria.

Sprouse, an aeronautical student, said Carol turned him down for a date last September and he had brooded about it for months.

"Since then I said nothing to her whatsoever and no one would ever suspect there was anything between us," Sprouse said.

"Intentions of getting back at her some way were brewing inside me" all the time, he confessed. Sprouse said he obtained the acid from a druggist with the excuse he wanted it for a chemical experiment.

He said he poured a pint of the acid into a water tumbler about 20 minutes before he threw it.

WHICH GIRL PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?
*NINETY PERCENT
The poised young woman at the right of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. Adults judge even children (and children judge each other) by what they see. It's true that clothes may create slightly less than 90% of the impression Juniors make, but the rest is just as important.
Another point to remember: Because children's clothes become so grimy so quickly, it's especially important to have them drycleaned regularly and often. (This kind of care carries a built-in bonus. In addition to looking fresher, drycleaned clothes last longer.)

Questions Doctors Ask To Spot Possible Cancer

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A doctor is no magician. He can't tell whether a person has cancer simply by looking at him

But he probably will be able to tell after asking a few simple questions and making a thorough, painless, physical examination.

When you go in for a physical checkup — and you should have one at least once a year — your physician probably will ask you these following questions regarding possible symptoms of cancer:

Have you noticed any painless lumps or thickening, especially in the lip, tongue or breast?

Have you at any time noticed any unusual bleeding from any natural body opening or from the nippes?

Have you any sores, particularly around the tongue, mouth or lips, that have refused to heal?

Are your bowel habits regular?

Have you noticed any change?

Have you warts or moles? Has there been any change in any of these?

Are you bothered with persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing?

Have you experienced any persistent hoarseness or unexplained cough?

Have you gained or lost weight recently? How is your appetite?

With your answers as a guide, he will then examine your lips, cheeks (inside and out), tongue and tonsils. He will check your scalp and neck for any scaly or bleeding sores, unhealed scars or black moles. He'll pay particular attention to the glands of the neck and armpits.

With a stethoscope, the doctor will examine your chest. He may order an X-ray.

Simply by touching and applying pressure, he can check the size and character of your internal organs. He can detect any unusual enlargement or growth in your muscles, joints and bones by manipulating them with his hands.

With women patients, he'll check the breasts, cervix and uterus. A rectal examination is advisable for both men and women and particular attention should be paid to the prostate gland in men.

Finally, he'll make a urinalysis to uncover anything else that might be wrong.

Young Record Genius Topping The Old Timers

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Any man who can parlay a record shop in a Tennessee town into a $3 million Hollywood recording company that hires Tab Hunter and Marlene Dietrich deserves to be called the young genius of the year.

Four years ago Randy Wood was selling records in Gallatin, Tenn. For laughs he made a few recordings on the side.

Today Dot Records, the company that grew out of that experiment, is installed in fancy offices on the corner of Vine St. and Sunset Blvd. It was the largest single record seller in 1956—passing up giants such as Victor and Columbia.

Dot's 75 artists, including Pat Boone and Gale Storm, helped the fledgling company gross $8 million last year. Today Wood, his wife and three children live in a plush Beverly Hills home and attend swank Hollywood parties.

"Sometimes I have to pinch myself to make sure it's all true," Wood smiled as he sat in his handsome office.

Wood, from Morrison (pop. 368), Tenn., went to Middle Tennessee State College and planned to be an electrical engineer. In 1946 he opened a radio and appliance business in Gallatin and worked into a mail order record business.

Only 315 Boys at Monessen High

According to PIAA figures, the enrollment at Monessen High is 983. However that total is somewhat misleading. To begin with, it includes both boys and girls in grades nine through 12. Actually there are only 315 boys at MHS: 105 in tenth grade; 89 in eleventh and 121 in twelfth . . . Andy Kasic, brilliant West Newton High athlete, is hobbling on crutches after having a cartilage removed from his knee. Kasic hasn't played a minute of basketball this season even though the Golden Hornets are battling for the Section 17 lead. With him in the lineup, West Newton would have been a serious WPIAL contender in the Class B division.

* * *

There's a hot rumor that Freeport High football coach Johnny Karrs may wind up as a backfield aide on Buff Donelli's staff at Columbia University. Admits Donelli: "Karrs and I have been friends for many years. I've tried to get him in the past and I'm going to try and get him again." . . . Rudy Minarcin, a Boston Red Sox pitcher who lives in Vandergrift, is honeymooning at the moment with his bride, the former Soni Urbanski . . . Richard Barkley and his West Newton Junior High basketballers, who formerly operated in Section 3, are making quite an impression in Section 5. As a matter of fact, another win or so will clinch the title for them.

Minnie Plays with Jayvees, Varsity

Ron Minnie, Monessen High's gift to the Westminster College basketballers, starts Jayvee games for the Titans, then usually appears with the varsity as well. Against Youngstown recently, he led the Jayvees with 16 points, then scored four in the varsity battle . . . Bill Groom, younger brother of former Brownsville star Ace Groom, is now playing winter baseball in Hawaii . . . Redstone High will sponsor a track team this season. John DiPaqale and Joe Baldwin will coach the varsity while Joe Bosnic will handle the Junior High team . . . Greensburg High will open its 1958 football season against North Huntingdon, not Sewickley as originally planned. Sewickley asked to be excused from the date.

* * *

Monessen High's basketball schedule next season will include an Alumni game. Greyhound cage stars at district colleges will be invited to take part . . . Ken Karl, former Har-Brack football coach who lost his job in the coaching change at Indiana University, wants to get back into the high school field. Karl is interested in the Meadville, Turtle Creek and West Deer jobs, according to reports . . . Don't be surprised if Section 17 winds up in a three-way tie. That will probably occur if West Newton can upset pace-setting Irwin in the season finale. It would be nice to see S. S. Townsend wrap up his brilliant coaching career at West Newton with another section title.

MHS Grads Must Attend Summer School

Two former Monessen High standouts — Ed Galaski and Skeeter Danser — will have to attend summer school to keep themselves eligible for football at Waynesburg College . . . Trinity High is looking for a football foe on October 4. That's the date vacated by MHS . . . Top individual scoring effort in WPIAL basketball this season was the 49 points tallied by Canonsburg's Paul Lazor early in the season. Paul is a younger brother of Pitt's Bob . . . Babe Pressley, one of the original members of the famed Harlem Globetrotters, coached the team when it appeared in Monessen last week . . . Incidentally the Trotters claim that their most exciting show was staged some years back before an audience of exactly one. The lone spectator was Pope Pius.

Few Good Boxers Among Contenders

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, (UP)—Little Abe Attell, who ruled the featherweight roost for 11 years just after the turn of the century, today scorned the moderns of the ring as "right hand crazy amateurs" who don't know their business.

Spry as a cricket although he will be 74 on Washington's birthday, the wiry Attell conceded that "There is a good one now once in a while." Among these he named Sugar Ray Robinson, Rocky Marciano and heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

But on the whole he has little use for the current crop of fighters.

Different In Old Days

"They're right hand crazy," he explained. "We used to forget the right for a couple of rounds and chop 'em up with the left. But not now. All they want to do is bomb the other guy out quick."

"There isn't anybody to teach 'em today," he argued. "I was taught by Jim Corbett, a great master. Now they just aren't schooled properly. Another thing, the potential boxers would rather be $75-a-week truck drivers today than a boxer who can't hardly make a living because there are not enough fight clubs and enough action."

Abe is proud of his career, and well may be, for he licked some of the toughest men who ever pulled on gloves including the great Joe Gans.

"My masterpiece," he grins, "was a 15-round draw I fought against lightweight champion Battling Nelson at San Francisco in 1908. I still think I won it."

But his toughest fight was a 20-round draw he boxed with Harlem Tommy Murphy at San Francisco in 1912.

Spotted Him 20 Pounds.

"I had beaten him three times and I got cocky," he said. "In the previous fights I made him make weight. This time it was at catch weights and he came in at 137 against my 117 pounds. We were a bloody mess when it ended."

"I was 16 when I started boxing and 30 when I lost the title," he says. "Father Time just caught up to me."

That isn't exactly a true statement by the dapper little man who, except for a detouring nose, shows no evidence of a career in which he lost only nine of 360 ring battles.

Because Father Time hasn't caught up to him yet.

Yellow fever made its first recorded appearance in North America in severe epidemics in New York and Philadelphia in 1668.

City Loop Playoffs Resume

Two Games Tonight at Junior High

Two more teams will be eliminated from the City Basketball League playoffs tonight at the Junior High gym.

The twin bill attraction will match the Ozarks against S-L at 7:15 and Fuocos against East End at 8:30.

That double-header will complete first round activity and set the stage for quarter-final games tomorrow.

The Ozarks, who handled the Fuocos with surprising ease on Monday to decide a fourth place tie, are favored to get by S-L without too much trouble.

However the Fuocos may run into some difficulty against East End, a team which never did seem to reach its full potential during regular season play.

No. Rest

Tonight's winner will have no rest. They are scheduled to play again tomorrow in the "sudden death" quarter-finals.

Those games will match the Ozarks-S-L winner against Big Five and the Fuocos-East End winner against Viaduct.

From those tussles will emerge the semi-final contestants who will begin a three game series next week.

The Cro-Ams, who finished first in the regular season race, qualified for a spot in the championship bout without the necessity of surviving elimination action.

Charleroi Conquers Bellmar by 83-44

Charleroi High's brilliant basketballers easily overpowered outmanned Bellmar, 83-44, in Section 5 action last night.

The win was the ninth straight for the Charleroians in league competition.

The Cougars, who hit on 39 per cent of their field goal attempts, raced off to a 7-0 lead in the early moments. By the end of the period they were ahead, 22-11. At halftime it was 42-20.

Double Figures

Four Cougars hit double figures. George Schoener and Ollie Payne each had 17 points. Carl Witmyer and Don Baker chipped in with ten each.

For the Canes, Bill Schmidt was high with 11 tallies.

The victory gave Charleroi a season-long record of 18-1.

The home team also won the Jayvee game by a 52-31 score.

Bellmar Sports Banquet Tonight At Twin Coaches

Bellmar High athletes and cheerleaders will be honored tonight at the school's annual all-sports banquet jointly sponsored by Lions Clubs in Belle Vernon, Fayette City and Washington Twp.

As usual the affair will be held in swank Twin Coaches beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Principal speakers will be Al DeLuca, football coach at St. Vincent College, and Jack Wiley, assistant coach at Pitt. Both are noted as excellent after-dinner talkers.

Honored guests will be all members of Bellmar varsity sports teams as well as the cheerleaders. Senior members of the respective squads will receive awards.

School officials and coaches will also take part in the speaking program.

The banquet is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from members of the respective Lions Clubs.

Ozark Tourney Entry Blanks Are Available

Entry blanks for the annual Monessen Ozarks Basketball Tournament are now available at the Monessen Sport Shop and Fuocos Service Station.

Tourney Director Tony Mascetta said today that the tourney will be operated in two divisions as usual. Entry fee for the senior bracket is $20; for the junior class $12.50.

Teams with players 18 years of age and younger are eligible for the junior competition.

This year's tourney will begin March 21 and continue every other night until the 29th.

As usual, the Ozarks will offer a whole raft of trophies and awards.

Allentown High Cagers Rolling Along Unbeaten

By BURTON W. SIGLIN

Unbeaten Allentown and Coal Township and fast-flying Reading and Hanover copped important basketball victories Tuesday night with each promising to add second half titles to their first half championships.

The four schoolboy quintets already have taken opening round honors and each leads its league in the second half race.

Allentown broke a first place tie with Hazleton by downing the Mountaineers, 83-58. Coal Township won its 17th in an unbeaten season, a 97-45 crushing of Mt. Carmel. Reading handed Steelton its first loss of the second half, 66-53, and Hanover, which took its first-half league title in a three-way playoff, edged to the top of the South Penn League again with a 73-65 pasting of Middletown.

In the WPIAL, Fod City, Charleroi, Uniontown and Monaca took key games to remain at the head of their respective sections. Ford City wrapped up Butler, 71-56; Charleroi was far too much for Bellmar, 83-44; Uniontown maintained its Section Two lead by dropping North Huntingdon, 72-34, and Monaca stayed unbeaten in Section Eight with a 62-52 tripping of Beaver.

Upstarts Win

A couple of upstarts lead the second half action in the Susquehanna Valley and Black Diamond leagues. Lewisburg, buried deep in the ruck in first half action, swept its fourth straight of the second round by ripping Selinsgrove, 52-32. Bloomsburg, the first round titlist, was surprised by Danville, 49-44, and fell from a top perch deadlock.

Tamaqua, another also-ran in the first round of the Black Diamond League, remained the only unbeaten team in second-half play by conquering Jim Thrope, 68-49.

Quakertown ended Springfield's 13-game win string in the Bux-Mont League, 58-43, and advanced into the top spot. Chester continued in the van of Section One of the Philadelphia Suburban League by clouting Cheltenham, 66-48. Swarthmore's 72-64 victory over Lansdowns gave the winners a half-game edge over Yeadon in Section Two.

West Chester maintained a half game edge over Phoenixville in the second half race of the Ches-Mont League by felling Conshohocken, 68-40.

Hartack Rides Four Winners

MIAMI, (UP)—Willie Hartack, the nation's most successful jockey the past two years, accounted for four victories at Hialeah Park Tuesday.

Yanks Bank on Elston Howard In Left Field

By UNITED PRESS

The New York Yankees will have 12 left fielders in camp this spring but the odds are the one who'll be out there when the American League season starts is Elston Howard.

Howard, first Negro to play for the Yankees, agreed to terms Tuesday to give the world champions a total of 22 players signed. Elston's 1957 salary is estimated at $12,000. He hit .262 in 98 games last season.

Unlike many of the others who will be contending for the left field berth, Howard has "somewhere else to go" if he loses. An accomplished catcher, Howard is called "my three-way man" by Manager Casey Stengel.

Casey also uses him as a key right-handed pinch-hitter.

On other fronts:

The Milwaukee Braves announced the signing of pitcher Carlton Willey and shortstop Joe Koppe. A dozen Braves are unsigned, including star pitchers Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Gene Conley.

The Philadelphia Phillies signed first-baseman Ed Bouchee, shortstop Bobby Micelotta and free-agent Jim Smith, Western Michigan college pitcher. Bouchee hit .296 for Miami and Micoletta .236 for the same club in 1956.

The Chicago Cubs announced that pitcher Jim Brosnan, 5-9 last season, has signed and the Pittsburg Pirates sold pitcher Fred Waters to their Hollywood farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Donora Turns Back California By 66-51 Score

Donora High had no trouble turning back California, 66-51, in Section 5 basketball action last night.

Dave Russell led the winners with 23 points. Angelo Dabiero chipped in with 18.

For California, Ewing Bell had 19.

Wilt Scores 36 as Kansas Tops Aggies

By JOHN GRIFFIN

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, Kansas' seven-foot sensation who had been forced to take a back seat for a week, regained a razor-thin lead today in the three-cornered fight for the national basketball scoring lead.

Whipping 36 points through the cords in a 62-52 triumph over the Oklahoma Aggies while Grady Wallace of South Carolina was scoring only 24 in a 79-71 loss to Clemson, Chamberlain boosted his scoring average to 29.94 points per game to Wallace's 29.90.

Tonight the third and smallest contender, Columbia's five-nine Chet (The Jet) Forte, goes into action against Pennsylvania. Forte's average stands at 29.3 and he needs 42 points in tonight's tussle to overtake "The Stilt."

Ball Control Fails

Chamberlain gave one of his very best shows in Tuesday night's triumph to regain the lead. The Oklahoma Aggies played Coach Hank Iba's famed ball-control game to the hilt in an effort to stymie The Stilt, but the sophomore from Philadelphia scored steadily and also nabbed 15 rebounds to lead the game in that department, too.

Kansas, the nation's No. 2 team, held a 31-27 halftime margin and opened the gap to as much as 11 points in the closing minutes to insure its 15th victory in 16 games, and third straight since losing to Iowa State.

Wallace's scoring efforts helped South Carolina take a nine-point lead, 65-56, late in the second half against Clemson, but then Clemson rallied to gain the win. Wallace now has 170 points in his last five games, a 34-points-per-game pace in his drive for the title.

Hundley Bags 28

The individual scoring battle stole attention once again from key conference competition where victories were scored by Southern Methodist and West Virginia.

SMU, the nation's No. 4 team, opened a two-game lead in the Southwest Conference chase by trouncing Texas, 79-56, while runner-up Rice was losing to Baylor, 96-70.

Hot Rod Hundley tallied 28 points to lead West Virginia to a 93-82 victory over George Washington for an overall record of 19-3 and a Southern Conference record of 10-0.

In addition to the Pennsylvania-Columbia Ivy League game, tonight's features include a clash between fifth-ranked Bradley and St. Louis with first place in the Missouri Valley Conference at stake, a meeting of eighth-ranked Louisville and Marquette, and another of 11th-ranked Canisius and Seton Hall.

Commission Okays Boxer Johnny Eubanks

PITTSBURGH (UP)—State Boxing Commissioner Paul Sullivan said today an eye examination has shown Johnny Eubanks fit to go through with a boxing bout against Wilf Greaves here Feb. 25.

The commissioner said a medical advisory board had found Eubank's sight "quite good enough to permit the bout." The Pittsburgh boxer "will face no more than the ordinary hazards of his profession by going through with the fight," he said.

According to Sullivan, the examiners found that as the result of a childhood accident Eubanks' central vision, which is used for reading, is impaired by a scar in his left eye.

"Extensive tests by eye specialists show that the peripheral vision is satisfactory," the commissioner said. "Damage to the peripheral vision would be a hindrance to a fight, because it would prevent him from following the movement of an opponent and his blow during a fight.

"The medical board feels there is no danger in letting Eubanks go through with his fight and he should not be deprived of his livelihood."

Haten Scores 25 Points to Spark Late Lep Spurt

Rostraver High's basketballers spurted in the final moment to trip Ramsay, 66-59, last night at the Lep gym.

As a result, Coach George Everett's boys kept alive their flickering title hopes in Section 10 competition. The win was the sixth in ten league starts for the Leps this season.

Reginald Haten was the Rostraver star. The senior marksman tallied five field goals in the final period to spark a rally which wiped out a 44-43 Ramsay lead after three frames.

The visitors held the advantage until the final minute of the game when Haten put his club in front.

Haten Gets 25

Haten led the scoring with 25 points. He got lots of help from Ron Sonafelt who contributed 18 points.

For Ramsay, Don Skupinsky was top man with 17 points.

The Rostraver Jayvees lost, 37-27.

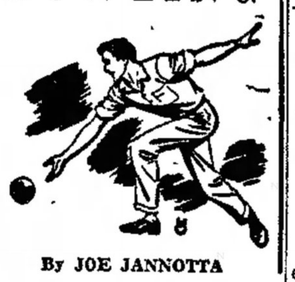
BOWLING

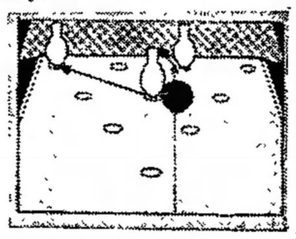


By JOE JANNOTTA

It's truly surprising how many bowlers aren't sure of themselves when playing for spares.

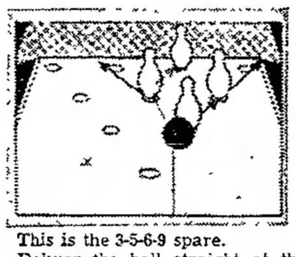
The past few days, we've been going over some spare possibilities, pointing out the correct delivery for the best mixing action.

Let us consider two more spares today.



This is the 5-7-9 spare.

Deliver the ball into the 5-9 pocket, hitting the 5 thin. For similar spares, deliver the ball into the pocket of the 2 pin combination, hitting the front pin thin.



This is the 3-5-6-9 spare.

Deliver the ball straight at the front pin, aiming to hit it very slightly off the center of either right or left side. The same technique is used or any basket spare.

Bryn Mawr Captures Ladies League Honors

Bryn Mawr swept over Vassar last night to clinch the second round title of the Ladies Bowling League.

The new champs completed the the round with a 26-7 record. Vassar was second with a 21-12 slate.

In matches last night, Wheaton blanked Villar Maria, Cedar Crest whitewashed Seton Hill, Rosemont won a pair from Monte Cassino, Ladycliff took two from Mt. Mercy and Wellesley won twice from Sweetbriar.

Scoring leaders were Helen Zdilla, 143-390; Mary Vescio, 141-339; Helen Wolford, 153-378; Norma Fayer, 139-368; Mary Galilei, 157-355; Sophie Mascheska, 164-386; Jean DeGregorio, 133-351; Peggy Singel, 145-423; Irene Bost, 147-402; Marie Columbus, 167-442; Rose Jannotta, 164-403; and Mary Ann Mazur, 141-378; and Betty Malinchak, 130-373.

Hayduk MHS Baseball Coach

Former Charleroi High Athlete To Direct 1957 Greyhound Nine

John Hayduk is the new baseball coach at Monessen High School.

The former Charleroi High and California Teachers football standout was elected during a school board meeting last night. He will succeed John Harhai, who resigned earlier this year to enter private industry.

Before that he had assisted Pete Daley in football at Ellsworth High for many years.

Hyduk, who lives with his wife and five daughters in the Park Plan, graduated from Charleroi High in 1932. In addition to his football career at California Teachers, he was also a sandlot baseball star in the valley.

Brownsville Scout

For years, he scouted football foes for Brownsville High.

Hayduk teaches physics at MHS.

Two other men applied for the baseball job. They were Al Romasco and Harry McCurdy.

In electing Hayduk unanimously, the School Baord pointed out an "unwritten policy" that coaches are limited to one paid sports job. Romasco is Junior High football coach while McCurdy is an assistant varsity football coach.

Midget League Request

In another sports action during the meeting, the School Baord listened to a request from the Monessen Midget Football League for permission to build a concession stand at Memorial Stadium in return for long-time concessin privileges.

The Directors agreed to meet with a committee representing the league on Thursday at 9 p. m. in the superintendent's office to fully discuss the matter.

Scott Takes Top Honors in Sec. 7

By UNITED PRESS

One sectional title was decided and several schools assured themselves at least a tie by winning league games Tuesday night as the WPIAL basketball season headed down the home stretch.

North Braddock Scott took the section 7 title by defeating Penn, 68-64, for its 11th consecutive sectional triumph.

Schools assured of at least a tie for sectional titles included Monaca in Section 8, Shannock Valley in Section 21, Wampum in Section 20 and Aspinwall in Section 19.

Ohms, Volts in Bowling Wins

Ohms won two games from the Watts and Volts took a pair from the Amps in Blooming Mill Electric League bowling last night.

Twop scorers were Bob McKeever, 200-497; John Harrison, 181-483; Andy Hrebnar, 183-458; Pete Urick, 198-435; Jim Peters, 170-419; and Ray Calderone, 162-415.

Standings show Ohms, 12-6; Volts, 10-8; Amps, 7-11; and Watts, 7-11.

Carroll Protest Is Disallowed

The Junior WPIAL Decisions committee yesterday disallowed a protest field by Carroll Twp. disputing a 37-36 loss to Vernon in Section 3 action last week.

Carroll based its protest on a charge that the game was not properly timed. The Committee voted unanimously against the protest.

Vernon Junior High did not file a predicted counter-protest, which was to challenge the eligibility of one of the Caroll Twp. players.

Brown Favored to Retain His Crown Tonight Against Bud Smith

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Joe Brown, who won the world lightweight championship with a fractured right wrist, is a lopsided favorite at 17-5 to keep the crown tonight with a healed wrist in his return fight with ex-champ Wallace (Bud) Smith at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Their scheduled 15-rounder will be televised and broadcast nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EST, with a TV blackout in South Florida.

Co-promoter Chris Dundee expects a selout crowd of 4,000 and a gate of $20,000 for this second title fight and third meeting between the two Negroes, 30-year-old Brown of New Orleans and 27-year-old Smith of Cincinnati.

Rangy Brown' a shifty, fast-stepping counter-puncher, is making his first defense of the 135-pound scepter he won from Smith —an aggressive, muscular slugger —on a split decision at New Orleans last Aug. 24. Joe fractured his right wrist in the second round, but his left hooks had Smith on the canvas twice in the 14th. Neither has fought since.

Is Bud Through?

Brown won the right to challenge in August by outpointing Bud in a non-title 10-rounder at Houston, Tex., last May 2. Those two defeats for Smith, plus a knockout by Tony DeMarco and a decision by Larry Boardman totalled four straight losses for Bud and aroused suspicions that he is washed up — that his legs are gone.

However, Smith declared today, "I'll surprise Brown and every one else tonight. There's nothing wrong with my legs. I'm in fine shape this time. Last year my family troubles worried me so much I couldn't train right. But they're settled now."

Predicts Kayo

Brown, smiling confident, said, "I licked him with a busted wrist, and tonight I'll take him out before 10 rounds."

Brown, seeking his eighth straight victory, won 61 of his 85 bouts. He lost 14, had eight draws and two "no contests." He registered 26 kayoes and was stopped three times, by Sandy Saddler, Johnny Bratton and Georgie Araujo.

Smith now has 15 defeats in his 53 starts. He won 33 bouts, 18 by knockouts, and had five draws. He was stopped twice, by Joe Miceli and Tony DeMarco.

Tale of Tape For Title Bout

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Here's the tale-of-the-tape for tonight's Joe Brown-Wallace Smith lightweight title fight:

Cager Dropped At Lafayette

EASTON, Pa., (UP)—Jim Radcliff, a six-six senior from Doylestown, Pa., and a star forward on the Lafayette College basketball team, left school Tuesday because of scholastic deficiencies along with another member of the cage team—sophomore Ernest Frank of Kew Gardens, N.Y. Lafayette is a contender for post-season tourney play.

Long Returns Second Contract Still Unsigned

PITTSBURGH (UP)—First baseman Dale Long has returned a second unsigned contract to the Pittsburgh Pirates, it was disclosed today.

Long was reported holding out for a salary of $20,000, a raise of $3,500 over last season. The Pirates' second offer was reported to be for $19,000.

Long said he planned to leave for the Pirates' training camp at Fort Myers, Fla., on the 19th, but would not go south until he has signed a contract.

"I don't expect Dale to be a holdout," general manager Joe Brown said. "I think I have been more than fair with Dale in all our negotiations and believe the club has gone just as far as possible with his contract for 1957."

The Pirates squad was down to 40 as the result of the sale of left-handed pitcher Fred Waters to the Pirates Hollywood farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Waters, 29, of Hattiesburg, Miss., still will train with the Pirates this spring. Last season, he had a 2-2 record with the Pirates and a 4-3 card with Los Angeles

The Pirates roster includes two players reinstated from the national defense service list. They are infielder Paul Smith and outfielder Alvin Griggs.

Dukes Easily Defeat Carnegie Tech, 61 to 35

By UNITED PRESS

The Duquesne University basketball team stayed in the running for a bid to the National Invitational Tournament by defeating intra-city rival Carnegie Tech Tuesday night, 61-35.

The game was strictly no contest and devoid of excitement as the Dukes rolled to their 12th victory against five defeats. It was the 12th loss for outmanned Tech, which has won six.

Other Western Pennsylvania results: Muskingum (Ohio) 91, Washington & Jefferson 79; Indiana 94, Alliance (Ohio) 68; Slippery Rock 84, Clarion 82; Allegheny 56, Case (Ohio) 52; Bethany (W. Va.) 73, Thiel 57; Edinboro 100, Fredonia 66.

W&J, in absorbing its third loss in 14 starts, lost the game at the foul line as Muskingum, playing on its home floor at New Concord, Ohio, sank 35 of 52 free throws while the losers hit on 23 of 37.

Indiana's victory was its 11th in 15 starts. Bernie McCracken paced the teachers with 19 points.

Slippery Rock Wins

Slippery Rock came from way back to edge Clarion. Trailing 39-26 at halftime, the winners scored 58 points in the second half. Don Kline dropped in the winning field goal with 20 seconds of play remaining.

Allegheny College had to hold off a Case rally in the second half to win its fourth game of the season. The 'Gators led at halftime, 31-21. Dal Matthews was high for the winners with 17 points.

Thiel was behind from the start in its game at Bethany and never came up with a threatening rally.

Edinboro's 100 point total was a season scoring record. The victory was the school's second straight and brought their record to 3-10.

Fordham Cage Boss in Hospital

NEW YORK (UP) — Fordham University Basketball Coach Johnny Bach, who underwent an emergency appendectomy in St. Joseph's Hospital, Yonkers, Tuesday, may be lost to his team for the remainder of the season. Freshman Coach Al Larkin has been named to take over for Bach, whose condition was described as "good."

Van Brocklin Top Punter in Pro Grid Loop

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Nrm Van Brocklin, who is known mainly for his passing feats in the National Football League, won the 1956 punting championship and at the same time booted Los Angeles to the team championship, official league figures showed today.

Van Brocklin averaged 43.1 yards as he won the league title for the second straight year. The Oregon alumnus punted 48 times.

It was two years in a row in the runner-up spot for Dick Deschaine of Green Bay, who averaged 42.7 yards in 62 kicks.

Sam Baker of Washington was third with a 42.5 average, Don Chandler of New York fourth with 41.9 and Adrian Burk of Philadelphia fifth with 41.8 yards.

Burk was the busiest kicker with 68 punts. The longest of the year was a 72-yarder by Van Brocklin.

Fred Morrison of Cleveland, Yale Lary of Detroit, Fred Glatz of Pittsburgh, Ed Brown of the Chicago Bears and Louis Baldacci of Pittsburgh completed the top 10 in that order.

Green Bay was second to Los Angeles in the team punting averages, with Washington third.

'Masterpieces' Called Fakes

LONDON (UP)— London art expert Leonard Koetser said today he can prove two Royal Academy "masterpieces" are fakes and is convinced some paintings in Paris' famed Louvre museum are too.

The Dutch-born art dealer threw sponsors of a Royal Academy exhibition into an uproar Tuesday with charges that two portraits supposedly painted by German artist Hans Holbein, the younger, are actually cheap imitations.

The academy values the two paintings at $450,000.

One, said Koetser, is worthless and the other is worth only 10 per cent of its $235,000 price tag.

If Royal Academy officials don't believe it, Koetser said, he is willing to pay the $140 cost to have them scraped for inspection.

"When that's been done, experts can examine them and decide whether they are genuine Holbeins," he said today. And, he added, the Louvre also has some mis-identified paintings hanging on its walls.

The Holbein paintings Koetser questions are portraits of William Warham, archbishop of Canterbury and adviser to England's King Henry VII, and Sir Nicholas Carew, keeper of the King's horse. Both paintings are more than 400 years old

PRINCESS IS 25 — Princess Astrid of Norway poses in Oslo for a 25th birthday picture at "Skaugum," home of her father Crown Prince Olav. The granddaughter of King Haakon VII, she is wearing the grand cross of the Royal Order of Saint Olav presented by the king as an expression of appreciation for her distinguished service to her country and its people. She also has the memorial badge of King Gustav V of Sweden and the Badge of Honor of the Norwegian Red Cross. Since the death in 1954 of her mother Princess Martha, Princess Astrid has been the "First Lady" of Norway.

'Scratchy Throat' Developed by The President

THOMASVILLE Ga (UP) — President Eisenhower showed no apparent concern over his "scratchy throat" today in planning another quail hunt and watching over Middle East developments from his south Georgia vacation retreat

White House Press Secretary James C Hagerty disclosed Tuesday night Mr Eisenhower has developed a slight cough which Maj Gen. Howard McC Snyder, the President's doctor, described as a mild form of tracheitis, what a layman might call a scratchy throat

Snyder had no further word for reassurance about the President's health but to all appearances the cough was not causing anyone concern — least of all the President himself. He planned an early quail hunt on Treasury Secretary George M Humphrey's estate

The President's day was likely to be punctuated by another telephone conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington concerning the Middle East problem

In such a conference Tuesday Hagerty said, the President discussed Russia's proposal that the Big Four keep "hands off" the Middle East as well as Israel's continued occupation of Egyptian soil in the Gaza Strip

The White House reaction to the Soviet proposal was that the Russian proposal was "obviously a move to try to discredit the Eisenhower plan in the Middle East," according to Hagerty.

Jack Benny Celebrates His 39th Birthday Again Thursday

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Jack Benny celebrates his 39th birthday again Thursday — because staying 39, he said today, "keeps me young."

The comedian who has won more continued success on radio and TV than any other entertainer actually will be 63 on Valentine's Day. But to his millions of fans, and Benny himself, he's still 39—a happy legend he began on his radio show back in 1945

"People should forget birthdays and their age," reflected Benny as he sat in his Beverly Hills office on the eve of the occasion. "If it weren't for observing birthdays, you couldn't keep track of your age. It would be wonderful if a person couldn't. Some people feel old just because of those numbers that are pinned to him.

Jack Benny

He Feels 39

"You don't look older to people who see you all the time. I really feel 39—just as I forgot my right name as soon as I changed it to Jack Benny I do the 39 gag so much on my show that I don't picture myself as much older

Benny first used the age gag in 1945 on radio when he announced he was 36. He was 37 for a couple of years and finally moved to 39 where he stayed. Since then the age joke—along with gags about his Maxwell car and his gold-filled vault—has become a national legend. Once a Texas newspaper headlined "Temperature Hits Jack Benny Age—39"

The gentle, amiable comedian realized the importance of his 39 pose two years ago when he planned to turn 40 on his CBS-TV show It was to be a national event an hour program bringing together all the entertainers who have worked with him, from Frank Parker to Phil Harris

But a Boston newspaper talked Jack out of it

Gag Helps Others

"Someone sent me an editorial they printed," said Jack, parking his feet on top of his desk. "It begged me not to grow older.

"Their reasoning was that it has been a great help to a lot of people who now can figure that when they get to be 39 they won't get any older, either. And so they don't get older

"I usually don't heed critics This was the first time I ever listened to a newspaper. We cancelled the show and I'm still 39."

Each year Jack receives thousands of birthday cards, many marked 39. Fans also send gifts, such as a model of an old Maxwell that sits on his desk. He also is proud of such presents as a 1955 Pennsylvania license plate, "JB 39," and old hub caps from Maxwells

This year Jack will be given his biggest birthday party in his life. He'll be feted by the top stars of show business Thursday night at a $100-a-plate dinner with proceeds going to the American Heart Fund.

Would Make Youths Subject to Courts

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly today considered legislation which would make 16-year-olds subject to criminal court prosecution in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Two House bills introduced Monday by Reps. Joseph W. Isaacs (R-Delaware) would drop the legal age of minors from 18 to 16 and take their cases out of the juvenile courts in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Isaacs is a police captain.

Closes Loophole

ST PAUL, Minn. (UP)—A bill before the Legislature here would close a legal loophole—it's now cheaper to license a nine-passenger station wagon as a bus than as a passenger automobile.

A Star Is Born

MILAN, Italy (UP) — Mario Odani, a 33-year-old carpenter, was in jail today because he starred in a movie. Giuseppe Maierani, 22, hid with a movie camera to find out who was stealing sausages from his father's plant. He filmed a sequence which included a sack being tossed over the plant wall followed by Odani carrying another sack on his shoulder. Plant guards arrested Odani at the end of the picture.

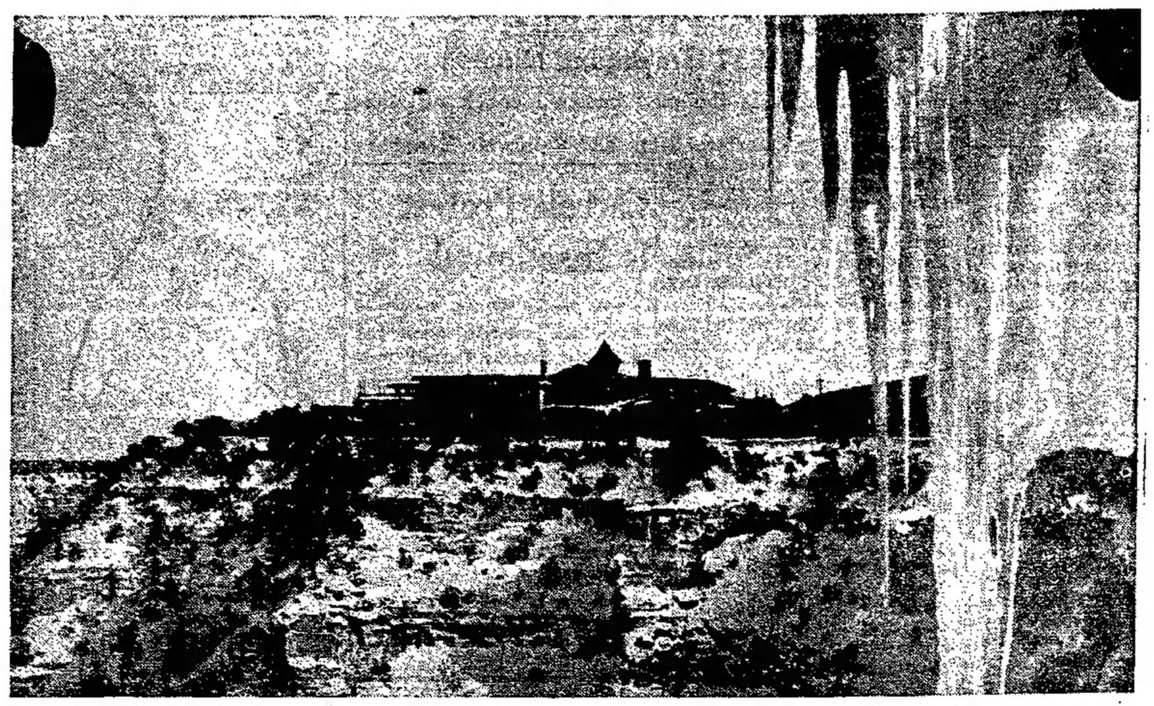
MIGHT SAY THEY'RE SUNSATIONAL—Here are six good reasons for packing a bag and heading for Florida and, if you're a water skiing fan, add this seventh reason —this is famous Cypress Gardens with its Aquamaids.



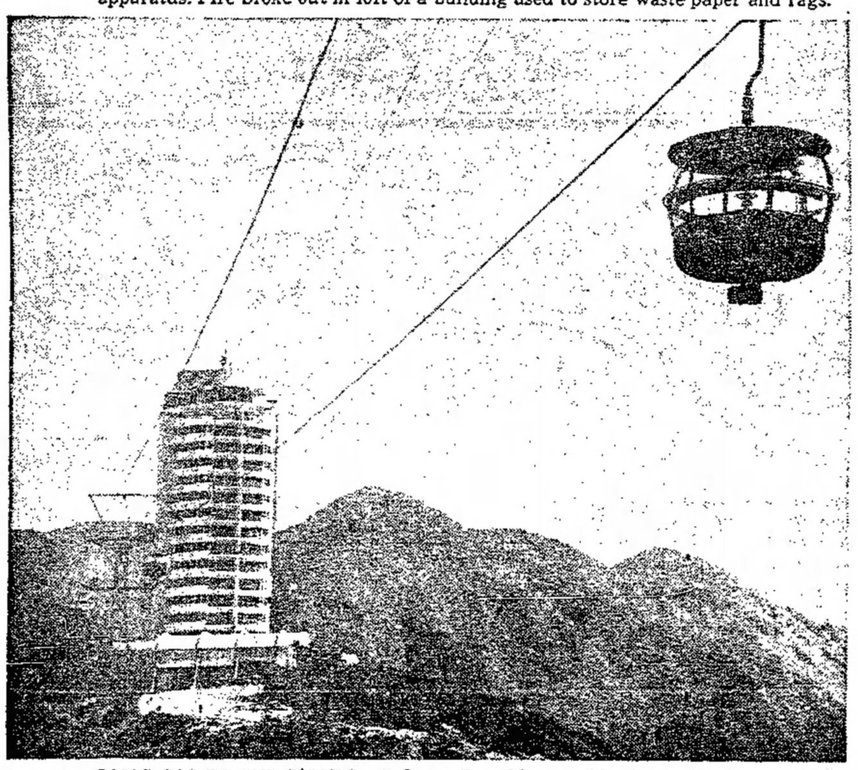
GRAND CANYON, TOUCHED BY WINTER—Viewers on the south rim at Grand Canyon National park, in Arizona, can look down on its majestic splendor as ice and snow throw their white mantle over the landscape.

ICE FIGHTERS, TOO—While New York firemen were battling a spectacular five-alarm blaze, freezing weather moved in and took over their fire engine and apparatus. Fire broke out in loft of a building used to store waste paper and rags.

GET A MOVE ON—A Turkish auxiliary policeman prods a Greek with his rifle on a street in Nicosia, Cyprus, after a crowd had clashed near the boundary line between Greek and Turkish sectors of this city.

BRUSH UP ON SAFETY

Grade school children are working on a painting-safety project at the university.



CABLE CAR TO THE CLOUDS—A five-mile cable car ride, longest in the world, carries passengers on a trip from Caracas, Venezuela, over the top of 7,000-foot-high Mount Avila to the Caribbean seaside. Atop the mountain at the half-way point is a recreation area complete with ice skating arena and 14-story hotel.

ARMS AND THE WOMAN—Singing star Abbe Lane makes a last minute adjustment before appearing at a Las Vegas hotel. She impressed a packed house with her dress and shoes, valued at $250,000. Creations, studded with fine stones, were under heavy guard.

WHEN is an art class not strictly an art class? When it teaches safety practices as Pennsylvania State university does. The full name for this special project is the Safety Education for Public Schools committee. Associate Prof. Dr. Edward Mattil is in charge of the class which develops a series of motivations for children of the first three grades. It works like this —pupils are told about a girl who left her toys on the steps or a boy who was careless in climbing a tree. Then, motivated by these stories, they draw or paint what has happened. In this way, the children are impressed with the safety lesson. A discussion of the paintings is held and the work is then exhibited for fond parents of the pupils.

Dr. Mattil watches Holly Hajjar painting this poster.

Explorer Scout Unit to Be Found in the Area

An Explorer Scout unit will be formed in the Perryopolis area sponsored by the Perry-Lower Tyrone Parent Teachers Association with the first organizational meeting held last Thursday evening in the School library.

Mrs. Dwight Taylor, president, was in charge.

The Explorer unit embraces boys 14 years of age and older, and presents an advanced program in scouting.

The program falls in three categories, social, vocational and educational. The program is arranged to include one major project every three months. Serving as advisory leader is Donald Buttermore, of Perryopolis.

Serving on the committee will be Thomas Sisley, of Perryopolis; Joseph Volpe, of Star Junction; Andrew Karpel, Boy Scout merit badge counselor, Star Junction; Joseph Wolfe, Dwight Taylor, Star Junction; Pete Homer, Vanderbilt, R. D.: David Cunningham, Star Junction; G. E. Hibbs, Perryopolis; the Rev. William Morris, Star Junction; Rodney Sisley, Star Junction; Henry DiVirgilio and Dwight Forsythe, Perryopolis; William Baker, Cub Scout committee member.

P. T. A. executive committee members attending the meeting were, Mrs. George Bednar, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, treasurer; Mrs. Rodney Sisley, Mrs. Ann Masch and Mrs. Dwight Taylor, president.

The committee will meet for its first meeting, this evening in the Library. Rodney Sisley will serve as Institutional representative.

Talent Show Winners Are Listed Here

The Student Council at Perry-Lower Tyrone High, presented its annual talent show, Wednesday afternoon, in the School auditorium.

Three prizes were awarded and placing first were Beverly Baker, Babette Myers, Carol Sager and Patty Moxin, vocal selection "Day-O". Second place winners were David and John Russell, vocal selection, "Singing the Blues"; and third place winners, Joar Prah and Joan Walters, "Once More".

Featured as talent scouts were Dorothy Edwards, Rose Marie Fields, Tommy Hutchinson, Robert Holler, Marlene Krasovic, Walter Pleva, Nancy Hanam. Ronald Enos served as toastmaster and serving as judges were, Robert White, Edward Leash, Miss Duff and Mrs. Jeanne Donaldson, members of the school faculty.

Council Hears Reports on Tax Assessments

Perryopolis Borough Council met for its regular session Wednesday evening with Thomas Karolcik, president, in charge.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Borough Secretary, Robert Palonder ,followed with the presentations of the bills.

A letter of intent received from the Haddock Construction Co. in connection with the sewage lines was read by the secretary.

A discussion was held on the new tax assessments and all Township and Borough residents who feel their assessments are too high should either call by phone or in person at the assessment office for the assessment appeal forms.

These forms, after properly filled out are to be returned not later than Feb. 18.

CALL SAVES LIFE — Actress Hazel (Sunny) Boyne gives comedian Bob Hope a kiss for indirectly saving her life. Hope had his production assistant call the actress for an appearance on one of his shows. The phone rang for a long time before Miss Boyne answered. When she finally did, she said: "You saved my life." The actress said that a faulty heater had filled her home with gas and had killed two parakeets when the ringing telephone woke her up.

Korean Bonus Plan Spelled Out in House

HARRISBURG (UP)—A two-pronged drive to assure Pennsylvania's Korean War veterans a $150,000,000 bonus gained momentum in the General Assembly today.

The House Tuesday received a bill spelling out the proposed bonus. However, it is identical to one previously introduced in the Senate. The measures call for $15 a month for foreign service and $10 a month for domestic service between June 27, 1950 and July 27, 1953. The next of kin of deceased veterans would receive the $500 maximum bonus payment.

Each chamger also has sponsored bills to set up the constitutional amendment to enable the state to incur the debt required to pay the estimated 335,000 veterans. Neither chamber has indicated a willingness so far to scrap its bill for the other chamber's.

Eastern Railroads in Demand for Increase

WASHINGTON (UP) — Representatives of six eastern railroads warned yesterday that passenger service will be seriously curtailed unless the Interstate Commerce Commission allows them to increase first class fares by 40 per cent.

Richard Bongartz, a spokesman for the Pennsylvania Railroad told the ICC the railroads now are operating at a loss of $47 million a year with $24 million of the deficit due to dining car operations.

"The railroads at this time be permitted to earn the cost of their service," Bongartz said in closing arguments on the petition for the fare increases.

Robert Brooks, a representative of the New York Central Railroad, said the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads have 50 per cent of their planned operation geared to passenger traffic. "And we cannot stand losing money in the volume we're losing on 50 per cent of our operation."

Under questioning, Brooks conceded that a 40 per cent boost in first class fares would result in a 20 per cent diversion of passenger traffic to other modes of travel.

Representatives of the Army and the General Services Administration objected to the proposed fare boost as a "self-defeating." Leonard Mongeon, a representative of the National Retail Drygoods Association, also opposed any further fare increases. He said that the buyers of the 8,000 stores he represents who now use the eastern railroads either would switch to air travel or curtail buying trips altogether.

James. L. Highsaw, who represents the Railway Labor Executives Association, said that his group had never intervened in a rate-making case before, believing it to be solely the concern of management. But he said the proposal was of such a "drastic nature" and involved the possibility of abandonment of first class service and unemployment.

The eastern railroads last fall petitioned for a 45 per cent increase in fares. On Jan. 1, the ICC approved a temporary 5 per cent boost in coach and first class fares. Meanwhile, an examiner has recommended a hike of not more than 15 per cent.

The railroads petitioning for the increase are:

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co., the New York Central Railroad Co., Norfolk and Western Railway Co., the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., The Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines, and Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Co.

They Clammed Up

TOKYO (UP) — Yokkawame Beach fishermen have asked the government to compensate them for $19,500 worth of clams they claimed to have lost as the result of the U.S. Army's artillery practice. The fishermen claimed that when the clam hears the guns boom it snaps its shell closed and chops off part of its body.
